AN SMD INITIATIVE

Kerala is to be declared as the first extreme poverty free state in the country by November 1st. The achievement is the result of a well-planned research and survey, meticulous implementation, community participation and coordinated efforts of various departments. Kerala's Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan speaks about the journey so far.

The government is all set to declare Kerala as Extreme Poverty Free State in November this year. What do we communicate to the world while doing this?

CM: Kerala will be declared as the first extreme poverty free state in the country on November 1st. It gives the world a strong message that, with collective efforts and cooperation of the Local Self Governments, society, and various government departments, poverty and even extreme poverty can be completely wiped out from a region. Kerala becomes the first state in the country to fully achieve the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals of 'No Poverty' and 'Zero Hunger'. This achievement reminds us that an inclusive development is possible.

The extreme poverty eradication programme was one of the major decisions of the first Cabinet of the Second LDF government led by you. How has the journey towards this goal been for the past four years?

CM: The Government launched this project in 2021 with an aim to find out the families, who live in extreme poverty and to help them to get out of this condition. A detailed survey was conducted by the Local Self Government. The survey identified 64,006 families as extremely poor, based on the factors such as income, health, food, and housing. Subsequently, a comprehensive action plan was prepared for each family. These micro plans were implemented with the support of local self-government institutions, Kudumbashree, LIFE Mission, and Health and other government departments. In the first year of the project, 47.89% of the population from the surveyed the list was lifted out of poverty. As of September 16, 2025, from the families covered by the programme, 53,699 families (84%) have been lifted out of extreme poverty. From the list those who were included in the extreme poverty line at the time of extreme poverty identification and later died, those who were migrated to other states, whom appeared twice in the list, and those who did not need a micro-plan, were excluded. Thus, 55,861 families (96.13%) have been freed from extreme poverty.

In the first year, the Government focused more on the most essential and inevitable factors; that is, food and health care. In addition to this, under the Avakasham Athivegam campaign, 21,263 poor people were provided with entitlements including Voter Id, Aadhar, ration card, Health insurance, identity cards for differently-abled, bank accounts, employment card and emergency services. Through the dedicated and collective works of the State Government, the social security institutions and Local Self Governments those families who were in need of continuous support for food and health services were taken care of. The needy families were supported by social security pension, and the homeless families by LIFE Mission, the housing scheme. Through the Ujjeevanam Scheme implemented by Kudumbashree, a livelihood and regular income were ensured. Mostly, the beneficiaries were in need of land and house, only house or renovation of house.

Until now, 4,677 families who were in need of only houses were given financial support to construct houses which have been completed. There were 2,713 families who needed both a house and land have had their houses built. 5,646 houses have been renovated and financial support has been provided to families who needed house renovation.

The UN has set to achieve its Sustainable Development Goals by 2030 and the Goal 1 is to end poverty and deprivation while making development economically, socially and environmentally sustainable. Why is Kerala focused on the eradication of extreme poverty instead of poverty eradication?

CM: Kerala has made great strides in eradicating poverty. Poverty was 59.8% in 1973-74. It has come down to 0.55% in 2019-21. Therefore, in the next phase, the government has focused on uplifting the poorest sections of the society and helping them to escape from extreme poverty. This has led to the goal of 'Eradicating Extreme Poverty'.

What are the preparations as a whole to achieve this?

CM: Preparations for the eradication of extreme poverty were carried out in various stages. First, a detailed survey was conducted by the Local Self Governments to identify the people living in extreme poverty. In the first stage, information gathering was conducted locally by evaluating the conditions of food, health, income, housing needs for each family. In the second stage short term, interim and long-term micro plans were prepared based on the needs of each family. The third stage was project implementation. The project is being implemented by the Local Self-Government Department with the support of the Local Self-Government Institutions, Kudumbashree, LIFE Mission, various government departments including the Health department, NGOs, resident associations. Major component of the project was funding. The government has allocated ₹50-crore each for the years 2023-24 and 2024-25 for this project. These funds have been utilised for health, housing and livelihood. This year, ₹60-crore has been allocated.

What are the strategies for the government for balancing governance between the infrastructure development and welfare measures?

In the Extreme Poverty Eradication Project, you can see that infrastructure such as housing through LIFE Mission and welfare schemes like healthcare, food distribution, educational assistance, and employment opportunities through 'Ujjeevanam' scheme has been given equal importance. This indicates the government's priority to include infrastructure and welfare side by side. Along with this the government has prioritised development of road networks, water metro, renovation of KSRTC, etc. We have a holistic approach towards development.

Dharmadam has become the first extreme poverty free constituency in India. How do you foresee this achievement as the MLA of the constituency?

CM: Dharmadam is the first constituency in the country to be declared an extreme poverty free constituency. As the MLA of the constituency, I must say that it is not a personal achievement but the result of a collective effort from all walks of the society. The most important aspect of this success is collective efforts by the LSGD Department with the support of LSGD Institutions, Health and other government departments, voluntary organisations, Kudumbashree, LIFE Mission and more importantly the people of the constituency. This is an exemplary model of Kerala's journey to achieve the status of the extreme poverty free state and an emulative model for other constituencies and states. This is the example of inclusive development in the state that included all families of the constituency and ensure health, food, livelihood, housing and education for all. This is a proof that how a government is committed to uplift the living standards of people and ensure equal opportunity to its resources.

Kerala scored No 1 in the country in terms of Development priorities. But we see many campaigns disregarding data, for eg., the movie The Kerala Story and the support it received nationally. Do you think Kerala is less understood in the country?

CM: It is a fact that Kerala ranks first in the country in the Human Development Index and other development priorities. Kerala has achieved heights in areas such as literacy, improved healthcare, low infant mortality, etc. However, some campaigns like movie The Kerala Story that are gaining national attention may be part of an attempt to spread certain perceptions unrelated to these development achievements of Kerala. There may be two reasons for this. First one is different perspectives on the development model. While some people accept Kerala's development model another section may try to see it from a different political or social perspective rather than its development angle. Another reason is the impact of propaganda strategies. The influence of social media and cinema in society is high. The stories spread through these mediums often influence people's emotions rather than facts. I cannot give a definite answer to the question whether Kerala is not understood properly in the country. However, this situation gives an indication of how certain narratives influence society beyond development and reality.

Kudumbashree is a national model. What is the role of Kudumbashree in achieving the goal of extreme poverty eradication?

CM: Kudumbashree played a crucial role in the efforts to eradicate extreme poverty. With the support of Kudumbashree, a campaign named 'Ujjeevanam' was launched. Through this project, families experiencing extreme poverty were provided with job training, microfinance and entrepreneurship aid. Kudumbashree distributed food through 'Janakiya Hotels'. As many as 4,394 families were able to provide a source of income through the Kudumbashree Ujjeevanam project.

Extreme poverty is invisible, which is difficult to identify. How important is it for a government to uplift their invisible poor who are not documented?

CM: Identifying those living in extreme poverty is a challenge. That is why the government adopted a unique method of household-level data collection to identify vulnerable people. This has been done based on the factors leading to extreme poverty such as malnutrition, lack of income, and homelessness.

The campaign Avakasam Athivegam has been designed for speedy issuing of entitlements such as on Aadhar, health cards, etc. This helped them to avail other welfare services easily. This is how the government addressed invisible poverty.

> In the Extreme Poverty Eradication Project, LIFE Mission and welfare schemes like healthcare, food distribution, educational assistance, and employment opportunities through 'Ujjeevanam' scheme were given equal importance.

A LIFELINE AND A REUNION

Kerala government's Extreme Poverty Eradication Programme Uplifts a Blind Couple

The Kerala government's highly publicised Extreme Poverty Eradication Programme (EPEP) has achieved a miracle far beyond its official mandate. It not only uplifted the life of visually challenged couple Shy Varghese and Sunitha but also helped them trace Shy's brother, who had been missing for 27 years.

Shy and Sunitha, who hail from Kumaramangalam in Idukki district, were among the 64,006 families identified as living in extreme poverty across the state. The couple, both visually challenged, were struggling to make ends meet by singing on the streets and going through immense hardship to support their college-going daughter's education. Because they didn't have a roof over their heads and were included in the EPEP list, the Kumaramangalam Gram Panchayat began efforts in 2023 to provide them with a home under the state government's LIFE Mission housing scheme.

Shy and Sunitha, who hail from Idukki district, were among the 64,006 families identified as living in extreme poverty across the state

The couple's dream, however, hit a bureaucratic roadblock. Shy was entitled to four cents of ancestral property, but this required the written consent of all four of his siblings. Two of his siblings had already passed away, and one sister readily gave her consent. The hurdle was Shy's remaining brother, who had been missing for 27 years. His consent was mandatory because, as the registration authorities pointed out, there were no official documents like a "man-missing" case to legally prove he was missing or presumed dead. "We knew absolutely nothing about the missing brother's whereabouts," said Kumaramangalam Gram Panchayat President Gracy Thomas. "But a determined relative took the initiative to trace him. They managed to find a close friend of the missing person through social media, and through that friend, we finally managed to get in touch with him."

Shy's brother was successfully tracked down to Velankanni in Tamil Nadu, where he had settled. He willingly travelled to Idukki and provided the necessary consent for the land to be given to Shy, requesting confidentiality due to personal reasons.

With the legal obstacle cleared, Shy and Sunitha's house construction is now in the finishing stages. "Thanks to the EPEP programme, we not only got our ancestral property but also saw our dream of having a home finally come true," Shy shared.

Shy, now the picture of happiness, often sings his favourite K J Yesudas song: "Ezhu swarangalum thazhukivarunnoru gaanam, gaanam, devagaanam, abhilaasha gaanam."

Kerala is set to be declared an 'extreme poverty free' state on November 1st, as almost all of the 64,006 identified families struggling for food, shelter, and medical aid have been successfully brought under the purview of government support schemes.

THE 65-YEAR-OLD WHO RECLAIMED HIS LIFE WITH GOVERNMENT AID

The life of Unnikrishnan, a 65-year-old from Thirunavaya, Malappuram in Kerala is nothing short of a family drama movie. One day, he was an expatriate; from there, he fell into neck deep destitution. The life of Unnikrishnan, whom locals call as 'Unniyettan', is full of eventful turns, having climbed out of that state by holding onto the lifeline of the Extreme Poverty Eradication Scheme (EPEP) initiated by the Kerala government.

Unnikrishnan, who worked in Qatar and Dubai for 25 years, returned to Kerala in 2002, ending his expatriate life. After building a house in his hometown, he used his savings to start a gold shop called 'Thrupti Jewellery' in Kadanangadi, thus becoming a jewellery owner. While living well with his wife and four daughters, problems arose with his family members. There was a dispute over the ownership of the house and 20 cents of land, which led to a court case. In 2006, Unnikrishnan had to leave the house. Having left empty-handed, he started living alone in a house registered in his mother's name in nearby Purathur.

Soon after, the jewellery shop he had run for 13 years also had to be shut down. "I am still owed three lakh rupees from the jewellery business. Everything was gone," Unnikrishnan recalled. The former jewellery owner slowly sank into the depths of poverty. The massive financial downfall alienated him from the local community. He became reluctant to face people. The old-age pension became his only financial support.

Poverty Scheme to the Rescue

After being surveyed and included in the Extreme Poverty Eradication Scheme, Unnikrishnan's life got a fresh start. The house registered under his mother's name was renovated. A toilet was constructed for him. He also began receiving free medicines for his continuous ailments, which include asthma and spine injuries sustained from an accident.

That wasn't all; as a means of livelihood, the Thirunavaya Grama Panchayat provided him with a tea shop within the Panchayat premises, under the Kudumbashree's 'Ujjeevanam' scheme. Six months ago, the tea stall, named 'Unniyettan's Idam' (Unniyettan's Place), was inaugurated. Amidst the laughter and friendly chat of the people in front of the shop, Unnikrishnan gradually started to come back to life. It was an unbelievable return in old age for a person who had fallen into the deepest depths of destitution. "I have great peace now. The Panchayat staff are my family these days. I can never forget the government and my Panchayat, even if I die. They gave me a rebirth in that sense," Unnikrishnan says, his voice choked with emotion. He added that the shop provides enough for his personal expenses.

P Babumon, the Village Extension Officer of Thirunavaya Grama Panchayat, says that since starting the tea shop, Unnikrishnan has regained his lost social life by talking and interacting with people. The staff members watch with wonder as the affection surrounding Unniyettan grows and his life blossoms under the loving care of everyone.

> I have great peace now. The Panchayat staff are my family these days. I can never forget the government and my Panchayat, even if I die. They gave me a rebirth in that sense — Unnikrishnan

Throwing garbage from vehicles to attract MV Act

Solid Waste Management Ltd to tie up with traffic police dept

A GBA auto tipper dumps garbage in front of a house. Similar action was taken in 218 wards under the five city corporations on Thursday | EXPRESS

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

AFTER dumping mounds of garbage in front of homes of people who throw garbage indiscriminately on streets, the Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Ltd (BSWML) is contemplating cornering litterbugs, who come in vehicles to throw garbage, by bringing their 'dirty act' under the Motor Vehicle Act to ensure that they pay penalty.

BSWML Managing Director Karee Gowda told The New Indian Express, "We are making some amendments and the blueprint is under way. Just like how vehicular traffic-related offences are covered and penalties are imposed, throwing waste using vehicles should be treated as an offence. Dumping garbage at homes of litterbugs is just the first step towards introducing strong deterrence policies."

The official, who initiated the 'Kasa Suriyuva Habba' -- throwing waste at the doorsteps of litterbugs' homes, said, "Stamping fear among people carrying trash to dump on the street is my mission. The task is challenging, but I am very clear: I don't want my city to suffer because of littering on the streets. In the coming days, BSWML will send shivers down the spine among litterbugs."

Another senior official from the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) administration division said there are also plans to coordinate with the city police and track down litterbugs with the help of surveillance cameras installed by the police in the city. "With support from the deputy chief minister and law minister, the law can be amended, and this will help stop indiscriminate garbage disposal," said the official.

Traffic expert MN Shreehari argued that BTP cannot install CCTVs at all locations, and litterbugs may opt to walk or ride an extra mile to dump garbage away from CCTVs. GBA officials said the idea is to instill fear and if the situation improves even a little from this initiative, it would help keep the city clean and bring in discipline among people who throw garbage irresponsibly.

A senior official from the Transport Department lauded the idea and said that though there is a Central Motor Vehicle Act that is applicable to the states, while implementing it, each state can bring in rules to fit their region. "BSWML can send the draft rules to the legal section and the team will examine it before giving the green signal. Once framed, it will be placed before the state Assembly and Council," said the official.

Waste dumped at doorsteps of litterbugs

On Thursday, in 218 wards spread across five city corporations under the GBA limits, officials dumped an auto tipper load of waste at the doorstep of each litterbug. Officials also imposed penalties ranging from Rs 1,000 to Rs 10,000 and collected Rs 2,80,500 in total.

Targeting litterbugs' homes to be monthly affair

Bengaluru: After teaching a lesson to several litterbugs by dumping mounds of waste at their doorstep, Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Ltd (BSWML) Managing Director Karee Gowda said the initiative will be held across 27 Assembly constituencies once a month on the same day. "As long as people keep dumping waste indiscriminately on city streets, the civic agency will not stop its drive," he added. Marshals across the five city corporations have been asked to record videos people dumping garbage in public places and track their address and contact details. A day in advance, the ward engineers will reconfirm and dump the garbage as 'tit for tat' for littering.

Horti dept digs in to get ASI site tag for Lalbagh, Cubbon

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE state horticulture department is working on a proposal to get archaeologically protected site tag for Lalbagh and Cubbon Park.

This comes at a time when the Greater Bengaluru Authority and the Urban Development Department are keen on implementing Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's pet project, construction of a tunnel road, for which six acres of Lalbagh land will be used.

The tunnel road is likely to be drilled below the geologically protected Lalbagh Rock.

"While Lalbagh rock is geologically protected, the botanical garden is not. It was created by Hyder Ali in 1760s as his personnel garden. Then it was 40 acres. In 1856, 80 acres were added, and later more land was added by HM Marigowda in the 1980s. Kempegowda Tower inside Lalbagh is also declared as a heritage structure," said a senior horticulture department official.

"We are now undertaking a tree canopy study inside Cubbon Park to increase plantations. We have added plumeria trees of 250 different shades of colours in the 197 acres. With this, Cubbon Park has become the richest plumeria germplasm in south India. We continue to get many proposals for construction and infrastructure works inside Cubbon Park. The archaeological tag will help protect Lalbagh and Cubbon Park for any works," the officials added.

Devaraju A, Commissioner, Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage, said that Mysuru has declared 129 buildings as heritage and archaeologically protected but Bengaluru has none. "Two years back, we proposed to declare 39 buildings as heritage, apart from Lalbagh and Cubbon Park, but nothing moved forward," he said.

The Indian National Trust for Art and Cultural Heritage (INTACH) has also listed 39 buildings to be protected in the city. "The lists included some schools, police stations and government offices. There is a provision under Karnataka Town and Country Planning Act to set up District Heritage Committees to identify and declare sites and buildings as heritage, but such a committee has not been formed in Bengaluru. Earlier the Bangalore Development Authority was to undertake the exercise. It has now been passed onto Greater Bengaluru Authority," said another official with Department of Archaeology.

5th train to join Yellow Line today, wait time 15 mins

Bengaluru: To mark the 70th Karnataka Rajyotsava, the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL) will introduce the fifth train on the Yellow Line of Namma Metro on November 1. The introduction of the fifth train, according to BMRCL, will reduce the wait time from the current 19 minutes to 15 minutes. The reduction in the frequency and wait time will provide smoother and more reliable service to commuters, added BMRCL. This change will be effective on all days, and there will be no change in the first and last train timings from either terminal -- RV Road and Bommasandra. BMRCL received its fifth trainset at the depot on September 30. The coaches had been dispatched from Kolkata-based Titagarh Rail Systems Ltd on trailers on September 19. The trainset then underwent around 20 days of static and dynamic testing after its coaches arrived in Hebbagodi depot. ENS

Rao: Penalise those who paste posters on trees, walls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao directed officials to file complaints and penalise those found pasting posters on trees and public walls.

During his inspection at Bengaluru East City Corporation limits on Friday, Rao observed posters on trees near Devarabeesanahalli and expressed concern about their impact on the city's appearance. He ordered the removal of the existing posters and directed legal action against the offenders.

Rao also instructed officials to speed up pending works on Panathur S Cross and Balagere Road. Officials reported that asphalting a kilometre stretch from the Outer Ring Road service road is complete. Concrete work is ongoing on over 500 metres in Panathur village, with one layer finished. Rao directed that the second concrete layer be completed quickly to ensure smooth traffic. Four houses near the Panathur railway track need to be vacated for road widening. He urged officials to expedite compensation, clear these structures, and continue road construction.

Rao, who also went around the road adjacent to the Panathur railway track, noted that the stretch is in poor condition and instructed that a nameboard be installed indicating that this section falls under the Railway limits.

Auto meter recalibration: Metrology dept seeks more time

INDRA S @Bengaluru

AS the three-month deadline for the auto meter recalibration and verification comes to an end, only around 11,000 out of over 1.5 lakh autos meters that are in use in Bengaluru have had their meters recalibrated to the revised fare of Rs 36, prompting the Legal Metrology Department to seek an extension in deadline by another two months.

The Controller of Legal Metrology in a letter to the Secretary of Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs and Legal Metrology Department has requested to extend the recalibration deadline to December 31, for auto meters in Bengaluru city following the revision of auto fare rates on July 14.

Speaking to TNIE, an official from the department said, "Despite the department allowing inspectors to verify and stamp auto meters across Bengaluru, relaxing jurisdictional limits until October 31, progress has been minimal — only 10,565 of over 1.52 lakh meters have been verified despite awareness drives and additional testing centres."

Pointing out the main reasons to the little turnover for meter recalibration, he stated that the auto unions and drivers who were unhappy with the revised rate have restrained from updating their meters adhering to the revised minimum rate, coupled with the month-long absence of the officials to carry out the socio-economic survey has led to the minimal progress.

However, M Manjunath, from Adarsha Auto Drivers Association, attributed the lack of turnout from the auto drivers and unions mainly to the public's reduced dependence on metered autos and use of app-based services.

He added, "Before Ola and Uber came, when people used to hail autos from roadside, the meter was essential—it showed the correct fare and ensured transparency. But now, with apps displaying the fare upfront, drivers think recalibration is unnecessary. Hence, they don't bother to get their meters verified."

HOLIDAY MATHIS

01st November : Calling All Saints Today's Scorpio sun and Pisces moon fold the calendar into spirit time. The veil thins; saints crowd the air with memory. On this day in medieval Europe, people baked "soul cakes" for beggars, who promised to pray for the dead. Bells tolled to comfort souls in purgatory. Food was left outside for wandering spirits. A paradox: Honoring the dead tends to sharpen the pulse of the living.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Growth is happening, but it comes in fits and starts. You'll feel better if you focus on what you put in, not what you get out. Don't demand too much from the results right now. Keep expectations light.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
You bring levity to scenes that would be so boring without you. You don't have to tell jokes to do it. There's a sparkle in your eye. You're amused, and that's enough to get others into your vibe.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
It seems unlikely, but it's true: Subtraction will fix things. Cut back and watch things work better. Less clutter means more clarity; less noise means more harmony. Trim your guest list, your to-do list and your distractions.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
Excuses are cheap; effort is expensive. You're paying in sweat, which is why you'll keep advancing while others stall. The harder it gets, the more interesting it gets, and the louder your cheering section becomes, too.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
You find it easy to get along with most people around. Not all. That's actually a great thing. Friction trains you. A comfortable exchange isn't necessarily a success, and a tense exchange definitely isn't a failure; it's the lesson that hones your skill.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Your feelings are like the dashboard light of a car; one signal, many possible causes. It could be a simple tune-up or something urgent. With steady calm and curiosity, you'll find the meaning and handle it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
At the poker game of life, the unknown factors are half the fun. Not knowing the other player's hand is what makes it a game. All you can do is guess and then play the cards you were dealt to the best of your ability.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
Most people see what they want to see or what they don't want to see. Not you -- not today. You'll seek an accurate understanding of the scene. You'll take a step back and ask others for their impressions -- a wise and winning move.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
Your silence has weight. When you hold back a reaction, heads tilt. People wonder. The space you leave makes them fill in the blanks, and today, what they imagine gives you power.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
You'll catch yourself halfway into a story you've told too many times and realize maybe you're already bored of it. The realization is a harbinger of excitement to come. You're about to start a brand-new chapter.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
A stranger notices you in a way that's oddly specific, like a comment on your shoes, your handwriting or your timing. When small, unexpected details are seen by someone on the outside, it's validating and can feel and mean something much larger than grand praise from someone familiar.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
You can trust in your executive function; your inner manager is strong. Notice that solutions don't require anything new. You have every resource you need, including a bit of discipline and abundant creativity.

PRINCE ANDREW STRIPPED OF ALL TITLES OVER EPSTEIN LINKS

King Charles III on Friday stripped Prince Andrew of his remaining titles after weeks of pressure over latter's links to late US financier Jeffrey Epstein. Andrew was also evicted from his Royal Lodge mansion near Windsor Castle. He will henceforth be known as Andrew Mountbatten Windsor and not as a prince. The decision comes a week after Epstein victim Virginia Giuffre's posthumous memoir Nobody's Girl hit the stands. Giuffre has accused Andrew of abusing her multiple times | P14

India, US sign 10-year defence pact

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DESPITE continuing uncertainty on a US-India trade deal, the two sides on Friday signed a 10-year defence framework agreement, which defence minister Rajnath Singh said was a signal of growing bilateral strategic ties. His US counterpart Pete Hegseth said Washington will work closely with New Delhi to ensure a free and open Indo-Pacific.

The pact was signed in Kuala Lumpur on the sidelines of the 12th ASEAN Defence Ministers' Meeting — Plus (ADMM-Plus). Rajnath and Hegseth met on the sidelines of the meeting for delegation-level talks, followed by a one-to-one, after which they signed the agreement.

The first defence framework agreement for 10 years was signed in June 2015 by the then defence minister Manohar Parrikar and defence secretary Ash Carter. That pact was extended on Friday.

"The 2025 framework marks a new chapter to further transform the partnership over the next 10 years. It is intended to provide a unified vision and policy direction to deepen defence cooperation," the defence ministry here said.

After the talks, Rajnath said on X, "This will usher in a new era in our already strong defence partnership." It a strong signal of the two nations' growing strategic convergence, he said, adding it would herald a new decade of partnership. "Defence will remain a major pillar of our bilateral relations. Our partnership is critical for ensuring a free, open, and rules-based Indo-Pacific region," Rajnath said.

Hegseth said, "This advances our defence partnership, a cornerstone for regional stability and deterrence. We're enhancing our coordination, information sharing, and technology cooperation. Our defence ties have never been stronger."

Women's WC final ticket demand soars

GOMESH S @ Navi Mumbai

THE demand for a women's cricket match in India seems to have hit a new high. A little over 12 hours after India romped home to a historic win against Australia in the ICC Women's World Cup on Thursday, the final on Sunday turned into a showstopper. Going by Viagogo, a ticket reselling platform, tickets for the summit clash were available at rather exorbitant rates. Take for instance, on Friday morning, the ticket prices varied from ₹8679 to a little over ₹1.5 lakh with the VIP hospitality offered at ₹177850. By evening, the prices varied between ₹6403 and ₹85368. This is in stark contrast with the original pricing from the official ticket seller, BookMyShow, where a ticket has been sold at as low a price as ₹150. P19

NDA promises 1cr jobs to Bihar youth

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE National Democratic Alliance (NDA) on Friday promised 1 crore jobs to the youth in Bihar as it unveiled a 25-point manifesto for the upcoming Assembly elections in the state.

The 'sankalp patra' was jointly released by Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar and Union minister and Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader J P Nadda, Union minister and Hindustani Awam Morcha (HAM) patron Jitan Ram Manjhi, Lok Janshakti Party (Ram Vilas) chief Chirag Paswan and Lok Janshakti Morcha chief Upendra Kushwaha.

The NDA, if voted to power, will develop Bihar's infrastructure and make the state a global skill and industrial hub. It also vowed to make the state 'flood-free' in five years.

In a bid to lure farmers, the NDA promised to increase the Kisan Samman Nidhi amount from ₹6,000 to ₹9,000 per year.

Another highlight is the NDA's vow to create 1 crore 'Lakhpathi Didis' in the state by training women. Other promises include free education, from KG to PG, to children from poor households.

DECODE BIHAR POLL DECIDE

INDIA bloc's chief ministerial face Tejashwi Prasad Yadav said the NDA should apologise to the people. "Why are they coming up with a manifesto of promises after having misruled the state for 20 years? They should not come up with a sankalp patra but a sorry patra," he said.

Woman killed by daughter, three minor boys in city

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a horrific incident, a 34-year-old woman was murdered by her daughter and the latter's three male friends, all minors, at her house near Circle Maramma Temple in Subramanyapura police limits. The accused made the murder look like suicide by hanging the body from a ceiling fan. All the accused are 16 to 17 years old and are all school dropouts. The deceased, Netravathi, was staying with her 17-year-old daughter on the 6th Main Road in Uttarahalli and was working as a helper at a loan recovery firm. After separating from her husband, she was reportedly in a relationship with another man for the last five years.

Netravathi

Netravathi's daughter and the main accused were in a relationship. On October 24, they met at a shopping mall and decided to meet again at the girl's house the next day. It is said that Netravathi had a habit of drinking alcohol before going to bed. At 9 pm on October 25, her daughter's boyfriend, his 13-year-old cousin and two others went to her house when she was fast asleep. P7

DCM has assured high command that there will be no crisis in party if CM's post is handed over to him

CM's camp to play Dalit CM card against DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Dalit chief minister issue is likely to gain momentum as the Congress government completes two-and-a-half years in office on November 20 to counter DCM DK Shivakumar, who has been meeting close associates of senior Congress leader Sonia Gandhi, like Ambika Soni, to clinch the CM post.

Shivakumar seems to have stuck to his strategy of reminding the high command about the reported agreement that was arrived at when the party came to power in 2023 about sharing of power between Siddaramaiah and him. He will insist that the high command keep its word, sources said.

But it is to be seen if Dalit leaders, members from the Siddaramaiah's coterie, would counter Shivakumar effectively. These leaders, including Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi and Social Welfare Minister Dr HC Mahadevappa, have held several rounds of talks to discuss the issue. They have also told some SC legislators to be prepared for a meeting with the high command, but it is unlikely to materialise, a source said.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah pays floral tributes to the 'Iron Man of India' Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel on his birth anniversary in Bengaluru on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

"Who said the high command will not consider a Dalit for CM. It might be waiting for an appropriate time. The high command is in favour of Dalits," Mahadevappa said on Friday.

The high command has, however, instructed the Dalit grouping not to create confusion, another source said.

Housing Minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan and APMC Minister Shivanand Patil on Friday said Siddaramaiah will continue as CM for the remaining two-and-a-half years. Some days ago, seven ministers wrote to the high command demanding Siddaramaiah's continuation, an MLA in Shivakumar's camp said.

Shivakumar's sympathisers, however, think that raising the Dalit CM issue is the last-ditch effort of the Siddaramaiah camp. They also believe that Sonia Gandhi and Wayanad MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra would convince Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi to have the final word in favour of Shivakumar. The Bihar assembly polls results, out on November 14, having a bearing on Karnataka politics cannot be ruled out, analysts said.

Shivakumar has been assuring high command leaders that there would be no rebellion or crisis if there is a change in leadership, the source said.

Siddu rubbishes report on CM change

Siddaramaiah on Friday rubbished a report in a vernacular daily that Shivakumar would be sworn-in as chief minister in November last week.

"Who told you? How did you know? Which newspaper? I read all the newspapers, nothing as such has appeared," he said, replying to queries from reporters at Vidhana Soudha.

"How will I know a deadline has been set? Only the CM, party president and high command know," said Mahadevappa, replying to a query on Shivakumar reportedly setting a deadline for power transfer.

CM holds talks with nomadic communities on quota, dharna off

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Congress government got a relief as the nomadic Scheduled Caste community members on Friday called off their strike as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah told them that he will consult with the law department on providing them 1% separate quota in internal reservation and other welfare measures.

Siddaramaiah and Social Welfare Minister Dr HC Mahadevappa held talks with leaders of the Alemari Samudayagala Maha Okkuta (the Federation of Nomadic SC Communities), who asked why the government betrayed them by not implementing the recommendations of the Justice HN Nagmohan Das' report on 1% quota. "They put forth three demands -- 1% quota, setting up of a development corporation and an economic package. We will discuss these issues with the law department and experts on giving 1% quota. There is no problem fulfilling their demands, but we need time," Siddaramaiah said after the meeting. He said the community has moved the high court against the cabinet decision that tweaked the commission's recommendation. The CM requested them to withdraw the case as it is affecting other SC communities.

Following Siddaramaiah's assurance, the community withdrew the dharna at Freedom Park. "We consider the government's decision positively. But a definite order should come and recruitments should be stopped till then," said Sheshappa, a leader of the federation.

On withdrawing the case, he said the federation will decide after consulting its lawyers and those who have appeared for the government. Even as those who held talks with the CM termed it a big breakthrough, another section of the community termed it a failure as nothing concrete was arrived at on the quota. The police at Vidhana Soudha did not let the dissenters attend the meeting.

No 'November Revolution', Siddu CM till 2028: Zameer

CHITRADURGA: Brushing aside claims of a "November Revolution", Housing, Waqf and Minority Welfare Minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan on Friday said the term was coined by the BJP, and everything about it are false. Addressing the media here on Friday, he said the BJP, in order to hide its own differences, is trying to create confusion in society about the government. Zameer further claimed that the CM's chair is not vacant in Karnataka, and Siddaramaiah will continue in the post till 2028. However, he said that there are plans of a reshuffle of the cabinet, and the decision in this regard will be taken by the Congress high command and the chief minister. On the perceived competition between Siddaramaiah and DCM DK Shivakumar, Zameer said both are on good terms and there are no differences between them. "Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar are like brothers," he stated. "Everyone wants Shivakumar to become the chief minister; he should become the CM after 2028," he added. Responding to a rumour that Shivakumar was joining the BJP, if he does not get to become CM, Zameer said, "I have come from another party, but it is the Congress blood that's flowing in the body of Shivakumar. He will not join the BJP." ENS

SAIT HOPEFUL OF CABINET BERTH IN REJIG

MYSURU: KPCC working president and MLA Tanveer Sait on Friday expressed confidence that he may get an opportunity in the upcoming cabinet expansion. Speaking to reporters, Sait said, "There is only talk about a cabinet reshuffle, but no discussion has taken place within the party so far. The cabinet expansion is likely to happen by the end of this month. I am also an aspirant for a ministerial berth and hopeful of getting the opportunity." Responding to questions on leadership change, the MLA said any remarks made on the issue are individual opinions, as the high command has not given any indication of a change in leadership. "The high command has instructed that no one should comment on leadership matters. MLAs may have their preferences, but the high command's decision will be final," he said. He also clarified that MLC Yathindra Siddaramaiah's recent remarks on leadership change were his personal opinion and not reflective of the party's stance. ENS

MY TAKE

Travel to future Bengaluru with cart before the horse

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

THERE is something crucial that we have let go of, linking it with our proud democratic culture. Civic laws and rules, meant to make us "fall in line", are rampantly violated. Enforcement is viewed as authoritarian – almost as if law-abidance is an inherent weakness of democracy, and flouting them has become a norm that bloats our pride over challenging the authorities.

We see this behaviour everywhere in the public domain, reflecting "total freedom" in the face of feeble enforcement, or even the lack of it. We live with an innate feeling that freedom comes without limits. The freedom to swing your arms does not end where your neighbour's nose (or any part of the other's body) begins. Just go ahead and complete that swing, no matter what the consequences. This innateness is the seed from which our anarchic behaviour has sprouted, based on the flawed assumption that democracy comes with no limits on our freedom.

The attitude among the citizens seems to scream out: "If the government is not interested in enforcement, what goes of ours?" And then, what do you have as a result? Rampant violation of traffic rules; unauthorised constructions flouting the by-laws; encroachments of lakes, roads and footpaths (wherever they do exist); littering in public places; and seeking vacant plots nearby to dump garbage. Well, these are only a few examples of violations carried out as benefits of lack of enforcement. The citizens know where to look and what to do for their own convenience, while the government does what it does best in terms of enforcement: look away.

The shining example of a product of this is Bengaluru – now at the centre of a slew of decisions and plans to give her a face-lift, riding on infrastructure development initiatives with an eye on enhancing her global potential and improving the quality of life of her citizens – in two words, "Brand Bengaluru".

But will that dream ever be realised? What kind of Bengaluru of the future are we looking at when we end up with a larger mess despite achieving all the grand infra plans pertaining to 'Brand Bengaluru'? We are headed that way because of lack of enforcement and failed awareness programmes on improving civic behaviour. What about better quality of life for Bengaluru's citizens in the future when more people with much more disregard for laws of the land end up resorting to more violations only because there is no proper enforcement?

The symptoms are already showing. Which is why, somewhere in this anarchic melee of the present-day Bengaluru, the authorities concerned – working in the shade of a new umbrella called Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) – are pushing back against the very anarchic behaviour that prevailed under its predecessor, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP). After implementing the plan to dump garbage at the doorsteps of those violating garbage disposal rules, the Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited (BSWML), under the aegis of the GBA, is now planning to penalise motorists littering the roads while on the go, just like how they are fined for other traffic violations under the Motor Vehicles Act. Also, Chief Commissioner of GBA, M Maheshwar Rao, has directed the officials to file complaints and impose fines against those responsible for pasting posters on trees and walls.

Can we truly be convinced that these measures will deter people from violating civic laws in the future, especially considering that despite more technologies applied for surveillance and monitoring, poor civic behaviour has only worsened due to poor enforcement?

Poor law enforcement is an extension of the political machinery's weak-willed approach towards enforcing civic discipline. Political leaders, in the democracy that prevails here, are prone to believe that strict enforcement is authoritarian. Enforcing laws strictly is seen as working against their respective political ambitions, because the same people on whom laws are enforced will be standing in the queues to vote for them on the day of their political reckoning, This works well to keep one fact under the wraps – that strict law enforcement in a healthy democracy is actually not authoritarian if it is balanced by robust civil liberties and institutional accountability. That should be in place first to ensure better quality of life for her citizens, which mere infrastructural boost will not. Going ahead without realising this is like putting the cart before the horse and trying to whip its rump.

Chalavadi: Under threat after state removed security

ENS @ Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy has accused the state government of abruptly withdrawing security cover provided to him and his residence, without any prior notice or valid justification. In a letter to the Union Home Secretary, the BJP leader stated that this action has placed him and his family under threat. He requested that the security be restored on an urgent basis.

In his letter to the home secretary, the BJP leader said he is facing "serious security challenges and political victimisation" and the government's decision to withdraw security has placed him and his family under "direct threat".

Narayanaswamy said as Leader of Opposition in the Karnataka Legislative Council, he has been voicing critical issues regarding governance and public welfare, which appear to have displeased certain individuals in the Congress government. "It is deeply concerning that, soon after my statements highlighting government failures, my official security was withdrawn. Recently, I was subjected to a life-threatening incident at Chittapur, where a group of antisocial elements surrounded and confined me in my residence (guesthouse) for 6-7 hours. Despite multiple representations, local police failed to provide protection or respond adequately," he stated.

In a letter to the chief secretary and state police chief, the BJP leader stated that the government will be held responsible for any threat to him or any of his family members.

EVALUATING the state government's progress for two-and-half years, activists in various fields and members from CIVIC Bangalore, a citizen voluntary initiative for the city, released a report card, according to which, out of 134 promises made during the election, the Congress government has fulfilled only nine and work is in progress to fulfil 50 others. The report also stated that there was no progress in 73 promises, while two others have failed.

The activists, by and large, lauded the five guarantees as they were aimed at social commitment like addressing hunger and nutrition, empowering women through free travel and giving honorarium.

"CIVIC Bangalore released two documents as part of their Review. One is a manifesto report card, which reviews the status of 134 promises made across eight key sectors, using publicly available information and RTI responses. CIVIC is also releasing a sectoral review, a detailed analysis of actions taken by the incumbent government across 10 key sectors, including public health, school and higher education, environment, Bengaluru, labour, governance, and the five guarantees," said Kathyayini Chamaraj, executive trustee, CIVIC Bangalore.

Chamaraj also highlighted in the report about public funding in education and emphasised better utilising the CSR fund.

"None of our universities are among the top 100 universities in India for 2025," she said, expressing concern over the quality of education in elementary schools.

A member highlighted the labour sector and said that the passing the Platform-Based Gig Workers' Social Security and Welfare Bill, 2025, was a noteworthy development, and also the decision of dropping the idea of 12-hour work for the IT sector.

Prasanna Saligram, a health activist from Sarvatrika Arogya Andolana, said the state budget is Rs 4 lakh crore, but for health, only Rs 15,000 crore is allocated. "This fundamental weakness is exposed by an overall health allocation that remains around 4%, far below the recommended 8%. Simultaneously, a strong trend towards privatisation, including handing over district hospitals via PPP models, threatens affordable care for the poor," said Saligram.

During the event, undemocratic, unplanned, unsustainable development in urban areas like Bengaluru was discussed, and GBA was criticised, stating that the government delayed the local elected body and the elections.

Imbalance Remediation Committee to submit its report by month-end

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Regional Imbalance Remediation Committee headed by economist Prof M Govind Rao is expected to submit its report to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah by the end of this month.

The tenure of the committee, which was constituted in March 2024, ends in November.

In 2002, the Committee for Redressal of Regional Imbalances led by economist DM Nanjundappa had identified 35 taluks as backward, 40 taluks as more backward and 39 taluks as most backward. Most of these taluks are from Kalyan Karnataka and Kittur Karnataka region. The recommendations were implemented during 2007.

The Rao committee is assessing 236 taluks factoring in per capita income, health, education, industry, services, social infrastructure and agriculture.

Official sources said average per capita income of six districts is higher than the state average, including Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Chikkamagaluru, Shivamogga, Bengaluru Urban and Bengaluru Rural. "But when consider indicators like education and health, some parts of the state do not have good results."

Sources said the indicators used in Nanjundappa's report have lost their relevance, such as having telephone connection, post office access. Some indicators based on 1991 Census report have become outdated. The Rao Committee has revised the methodology. Dr Vishal, member secretary, the Govind Rao Committee, said they have taken additional time. "That's because we have visited all districts, met a lot of stakeholders to understand diverse perspectives and expectations, data at various levels had to be sourced, analysed and has to be interpreted. Validation of inferences after cross checks is also involved," he told TNIE.

Karandlaje slams govt over corruption

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION minister Shobha Karandlaje said the state government has become ineffective as CM, DCM, and ministers are busy fighting for power, while corruption is rampant and crimes against women are increasing.

Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, she said they are not concerned about the power struggle within Congress and are demanding that the state government ensure safety of women. Home Minister G Parameshwara has no control over the department, she said. Crimes against women and girls have increased, and there is no safety for women in the state, she said, and added that they do not know if the Home Minister is working, holding meetings with police officers in districts, or even visiting any districts, apart from Bengaluru and Tumakuru.

BJP MPs Shobha Karandlaje and PC Mohan take part in a 'Unity March' in Bengaluru on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

The BJP on Friday launched "Killer Congress", a poster campaign. Stating that corruption in the state is rampant, the minister said transfers and postings of officials are being done only after getting money, and the officials who pay money for their transfers and postings will be busy making money. "Even in my constituency, Bengaluru North, officials are frequently transferred as payment made for getting a particular posting is valid only for 10 months. They need to pay again to continue in the same post. Our officials have lost confidence due to the transfer business," Karandlaje, MP from Bengaluru North, alleged.

She also alleged that in Karnataka, 1,800 cases of crimes against women, including rape, were reported in the last two years. Even in the CM's home district, a girl selling balloons was raped, the minister said.

No bail for man who brought 400 Bangladeshis into city

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

A city court refused to grant anticipatory bail to Alauddin, who has allegedly brought more than 400 Bangladeshi nationals illegally into Bengaluru, and facilitated their settlement.

Judge Shirin Javeed Ansari, 69th Additional City Civil and Sessions Court, passed the order, rejecting the anticipatory bail application filed by Alauddin (45), residing in Electronics City in Bengaluru.

The court noted that the petitioner had brought more than 400 Bangladeshi nationals illegally into Bengaluru and facilitated their settlement. If proved, this is not only a grave statutory violation, but also an act prejudicial to the safety and sovereignty of the State. The offence, under Section 14 of the Foreigners Act, is cognizable and non-bailable, with the objective of protecting the territorial and demographic integrity of the country. Grant of pre-arrest bail in such cases may dilute the law and hamper the investigative process, the court observed.

The court said evidence points towards potential acts of national infiltration and impersonation. Releasing the petitioner on anticipatory bail would be against the interests of justice and security of the state. The apex court has categorically held that in cases where national integrity, illegal immigration and cross-border infiltration are involved, courts must exercise restraint while invoking discretionary powers for anticipatory bail, the court added.

The special public prosecutor filed objections, stating that the applicant has two identity documents -- an Aadhaar card issued in India in the name of 'Alauddin bin Abdul Latif' and another a National ID card issued by the People's Republic of Bangladesh in the name of 'Alladin Howladhr'. These have a different date of birth and spelling. He is in contact with several Bangladeshi nationals illegally residing in India, and has facilitated the entry of over 400 illegal migrants from Bangladesh. He has been using international communication applications such as IMO to contact persons in Bangladesh, and his CDR details indicate frequent communication with foreign nationals illegally residing in India, the prosecutor pleaded.

Independent allegations

Seeking anticipatory bail in the event of his arrest by CCB police, in connection with offences under Section 14 of the Foreigners Act and Sections 6 and 12 of the Passport Act, Alauddin claimed he is a bona fide Indian national, originally from West Bengal, residing in Bengaluru and working as a mason.

He is being repeatedly called for an inquiry by CCB police and Bannerghatta police on suspicion of being an illegal Bangladeshi migrant. A similar FIR was registered in 2019 by the Gautam Budh Nagar police station in Uttar Pradesh, and he was granted bail.

The court said it appears the Karnataka police are taking action in connection with independent allegations arising within this jurisdiction, particularly in Bengaluru.

Evidence points towards potential acts of national infiltration and impersonation. Releasing the petitioner on anticipatory bail would be against the interests of justice and security of the state

Voter fraud case: Guttedar, son get anticipatory bail

BENGALURU: A special court in the city on Friday granted anticipatory bail to former BJP MLA Subhash Guttedar and his son Harsha Guttedar in a voter fraud case being probed by the Criminal Investigation Department (CID). Judge Santhosh Gajanan Bhat of the Special Court for trial of criminal cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs, allowed their applications seeking anticipatory bail, imposing conditions. The detailed order is not yet available. The court said in the event of the petitioners' arrest, police have to release them on bail on executing a personal bond for Rs 1 lakh each with a surety for like sum. The other condition imposed by court was that the petitioners should not indulge in similar acts, should cooperate with the investigating agency, and not threaten or tamper with the prosecution witnesses. Further, the court said the petitioners should appear before the investigating officer within 10 days from October 31, cooperate with the probe, and not leave the country without obtaining written permission from court. The CID is probing the case registered with the Aland police in 2023.

Victim found daughter with friends, said will calls cops

AROUND 10.30 pm, Netravathi suddenly woke up to see her daughter with her boyfriend and three other male friends. When she told them that she will call the police, the accused allegedly strangled her to death with a towel. They then hanged the body with her saree from the ceiling fan and escaped, locking the front door from outside.

On October 26, the man with whom Netravathi had a relationship went to her house, saw the door was locked and went back. On Monday, Netravathi's sister K Anitha, staying at KTM Layout on Mysuru Road, called him to find out about her sister. Both of them went near Netravathi's house the same day. At the house, they peeped through the window and saw her hanging from the ceiling. Anitha immediately called the police, who registered an unnatural death case. Initially, it was suspected that Netravathi had died by suicide after coming to know of her daughter's relationship.

But as the girl was still missing, Anitha called the police on October 29 and told them that her niece was untraceable. The police registered a kidnapping case as she is a minor.

Around 1.30 pm on October 30, the girl landed at her grandmother's house in Kaggalipura. She told her relatives that on the night of October 25, while she and her mother were at home, her four male friends had come home. When her mother threatened to call the police, her male friends strangled her mother with a towel, dragged her into another room and hanged her, she told her grandmother. She also claimed that her friends whipped out a knife and threatened her not to tell anyone about the crime.

She said she was terrified and was staying at her friend's house. But Anitha found out that the girl was staying at the house of her boyfriend's relative. Anitha also suspected something amiss in the girl's story, and called the police on Thursday night. She told them that the girl and her male friends could be involved in her sister's murder. When the police interrogated the girl, she confessed to the murder.

Now, Kaneri seer faces ₹1 cr defamation suit

Lingayat seers accuse him of making 'vulgar' remarks at pontiffs

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

SIMMERING Lingayat unrest over alleged derogatory remarks by Kaneri Mutt pontiff Sri Adrushya Kadasiddheshwar Swamiji, has taken a legal turn. The Lingayat Matadhipatigala Okkuta, a federation of over 300 Lingayat seers who spearheaded the statewide Basava Abhiyan, has filed a Rs 1 crore defamation suit against the Kaneri seer, accusing him of making "vulgar and slanderous insults" at pontiffs and the Basava movement.

The 30th Additional City and Civil Sessions Court, Bengaluru, granted a temporary injunction restraining the swami and his followers from making "defamatory or derogatory statements" against the Okkuta on media or social platforms. The order, seen as a victory for the Lingayat seers, is a legal gag on the Kaneri pontiff.

The controversy traces back to the swamiji's speech in early October at Biluru village in Maharashtra's Sangli district.

Protests had swept across state as thousands of devotees and pro-Basava groups demanded the seer's arrest

In a video that went viral, the pontiff was seen mocking Lingayat seers advocating separate religious recognition, calling them 'nataka thanda' or drama troupe, and using unparliamentary language. He derided Basava devotees, urging followers to "throw home idols into rivers" and "drink and eat meat in hotels", that enraged the community.

Protests swept the state, including Vijayapura, Belagavi, Bagalkot, Dharwad and Kalaburagi, as thousands of devotees under banners like Jagatika Lingayat Mahasabha (JLM) and pro-Basava groups took to the streets, raising slogans, burning effigies and demanding the seer's arrest.

Citing risks to communal harmony, the Vijayapura Deputy Commissioner imposed a two-month entry ban on the pontiff under Section 163 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS), a move later upheld by the Kalaburagi High Court Bench, which noted that "even ordinary citizens refrain from using such language".

The controversy has taken on a political hue. The swami's support among sections of the RSS and BJP, including leaders like Chakravarti Sulibele, Basanagouda Patil Yatnal and others, has sparked accusations of political interference in religious matters. Critics allege that the saffron establishment is using the seer to counter the Lingayat separate religion campaign, risking alienating an influential voter bloc. As the Kaneri seer continues to operate from his Maharashtra headquarters, religious and political circles are watching closely.

BJP LEADER'S SON ATTACKS TOLL BOOTH STAFF IN VIJAYAPURA

Vijayapura: A video showing Samarth Gowda, son of BJP leader Viju Gowda Patil, and his friends assaulting a toll booth employee near Kannolli village in Vijayapura district has gone viral on social media, drawing widespread public anger. According to reports, the incident occurred when Samarth Gowda, travelling from Vijayapura towards Sindagi in a black Thar SUV, was stopped at the toll plaza for fee collection. When the toll operator Sangappa asked for the toll amount, Samarth allegedly responded by saying he was "Viju Gowda's son." When the staff questioned, "Which Viju Gowda?", Samarth and his friends allegedly attacked the toll employee. The injured staffer, Sangappa, has been admitted to Sindagi Taluk Hospital for treatment. Toll employees are preparing to file a formal complaint against Samarth Gowda and his associates. The video of the assault, showing the youth arguing and hitting the toll operator, has spread rapidly online, triggering sharp criticism and calls for strict police action. ENS

Limited job prospects lead to decline in MA Kannada enrolments

RASHMI PATIL @Bengaluru

THE number of students pursuing Master of Arts in Kannada literature has declined in the past few years, say Kannada professors from various universities in the state.

There are several reasons for this decline, including limited work opportunities, lack of permanent lecturers in the departments, and the absence of new colleges to teach courses in the humanities.

Professor Nithyananda B Shetty, Tumkur University, said, "Job opportunities are limited after completion of MA in Kannada. Apart from research and teaching, the only work opportunities candidates get are in media and entertainment industry. Though many new PU colleges are opening, they priortise teaching Science and Commerce. Literature or language is limited to two semesters in degree courses instead of four semesters. Therefore, fewer lecturers are hired in government colleges and private colleges to teach literature."

Prof Shetty said there are 70 students in first and second year put together and 52 students are pursuing full-time and part-time PhD in Kannada. Last year, the strength of students was same. He said the language lacks quality teachers across universities. "Teachers or professors who are appointed now don't have expertise in classical text or even modern literature. They teach literature to students using review materials on a particular literary text. For instance, they don't read Pampa Bharata in detail to students. They read a review of this piece, so how can students develop analytical or reasoning skills?"

Dominic Davidappa, Director, Kannada Adhyayana Kendra, Bangalore University, said, "There are two different sections in Kannada department here. While one department is Kannada Literature, second one is Comparative Studies. There are 53 students this year who are pursuing MA in Kannada Literature and 13 students in comparative studies. The intake for Comparative Studies is 20. Last year, there were 57 pursuing Kannada Literature and 19 in Comparative Studies."

He said, "While there are totally 10 permanent lecturers for both the departments, we are adopting modern technology so that more students pursue Kannada Literature. We have started teaching them AI tools for translation, introduced smart boards and others."

Davidappa noted that majority of students who pursue Kannada are from rural areas. "Many students from rural areas including Kolar and Chikkaballapura are first generation graduates in their families and villages," he added.

Supporting the fact that many rural students take up Kannada Literature, Dr Chandrashekar Bettalli, guest lecturer at Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies in Mysore university, said, "We have 76 students pursuing MA in Kannada and majority of them are from rural areas. The reason being they aspire to become teachers in schools or write competitive exams." He added that there are only two permanent lecturers and 14 guest lecturers.

Transgender assaulted on suspicion of deserting group

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A TRANSGENDER woman Sukanya (24) was kidnapped and brutally assaulted by fellow transgender women in Roopena Agrahara area for allegedly trying to switch her gharana (non-biological clan). Sukanya was rescued by police and taken to Victoria Hospital. An FIR was registered by Bommanahalli police against the perpetrators.

"Sukanya was kidnapped from Krishnarajapuram, where she was staying with some hijras because her assaulters -- the hijras she was living with earlier -- felt she would leave their gharana and join another one," stated a spokesperson of 'Sangama', a city-based human rights organisation.

A city-based LGBTI activist told TNIE that hijras (one of the traditional transgender women communities in South Asia) have a historical and rigid hierarchical social structure. The community is extremely territorial, where switching gharana is considered a loss of income.

"A hijra gets initiated into the community by a guru through a ritualistic ceremony called 'jalsa' or 'Mata puja'. The guru provides for her protection, shelter and other logistics, including sex reassignment surgery, which is prohibitively expensive. In return, the chela (pupil) has to give 30 to 70 per cent of her daily earnings through begging, sex work etc to her guru, which the latter can also share with her guru. There are five to six gharanas in Bengaluru. Each gharana is headed by a nayak (head) based in Mumbai/ Hyderabad, who can also be the guru or guru's guru. There is a strict understanding among the gharanas that they will not encroach upon the other's territory," said the activist.

"Hijras from one gharana operate in their jurisdiction only. Switching gharanas is not encouraged in the community, which holds jamaat (court) to decide on internal issues, including punishment for any offence they consider serious. The worst that can happen to a hijra is to get excommunicated. No gharana will accept her thereafter anywhere in South Asia," added the activist.

BIHAR POLLS

STALIN ASKS MODI TO STOP 'CHEAP POLITICS'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

TAMIL Chief Minister M K Stalin on Friday slammed Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his alleged remark on "harassment of Bihar workers by DMK in Tamil Nadu" and said the PM must not undermine the dignity of his position for cheap politics by targeting Tamils and showing malice against them in poll-bound states.

Sharing a short video clip of Narendra Modi's speech in his X post, Stalin wrote, "In an India that is proud of its unity in diversity, Modi and BJP cadres should stop spreading enmity and should focus on the country's welfare." He urged the BJP and the PM not to foster enmity between Hindus and Muslims, or between Tamils and the people of Bihar. "As a Tamilian, I sadly appeal to him," the CM said.

DMK MP Kanimozhi, in her social media post, said, "Over the past four years, only one person from Bihar is suffering in Tamil Nadu because of his inability to do politics. He lives in Raj Bhavan," she said, indirectly referring to Governor RN Ravi.

She further wrote, "The workers from Bihar know who puts them through hardships by making them walk during Covid pandemic and they also know how Tamil Nadu helped them. If Modi repeats the same remarks when he comes to TN next year, Tamil people and the migrant workers will explain to him how the state takes care of them."

DMK MP Dhayanidhi Maran said the NDA's election manifesto for Bihar invalidates Modi's remarks against Tamil people as most of the promises made by the JD(U) and BJP are a copy of the social welfare initiatives implemented by the DMK in Tamil Nadu.

6.13cr people covered under survey in K'taka

Bengaluru: With the Karnataka government's door-to-door Socio-Economic Survey getting over on Friday, the Karnataka State Backward Class Commission has revealed that enumerators touched 6.13 crore people of the 6.85 crore projected population. The Commission is now allowing the public to take part in the survey online, until November 10.The survey, started on September 22, was to end on October 7. As it was not completed in many parts of the state, the government extended it to October 18, and it was again extended to October 31. The Commission said over 4.22 lakh households refused to take part in the survey, and 34.49 lakh houses were locked or vacant. The Commission has appealed to those who did not take part in the survey for various reasons, to fill in their details online by clicking on the link https://kscbcselfdeclaration.karnataka.gov.in. The last date to take part online is November 10. For more details, call the helpline 8050770004, a release said.

Within a week, one more farmer killed by tiger near Bandipur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

MYSURU district witnessed yet another tiger attack on a farmer at Kurnegala village in Sargur taluk on Friday, marking the third such incident in a month.

Just five days after a tiger mauled 55-year-old farmer Rajashekar to death while he was grazing cattle in Bennegere village of Hediyala hobli near Chikkadevamma Hill, another farmer Dodda Ningaiah (65), a resident of Koodadi village, was killed in a similar attack on the forest fringes on Friday afternoon.

The latest incident occurred near Hediyala forest range under the Moleyuru division of Bandipur Tiger Reserve. Ningaiah was reportedly grazing his cattle in an open field close to the forest when the tiger pounced on him, killing him instantly. It later dragged the body into the woods. Villagers, who witnessed the attack, raised an alarm, chased the tiger away and recovered the body from the forest.

A wildlife activist, however, said the attack occurred inside the forest area near Kurnegala. The farmer suffered fatal injuries to his neck and head, and villagers later retrieved the body by crossing the Elephant Proof Trench (EPT) built to prevent wild elephants from entering human settlements, he added.

Forest officials and police rushed to the spot and launched an investigation. Angry villagers and Ningaiah's family members protested, demanding that the Forest Department capture the tigers that have been coming close to human habitats.

Nugu Wildlife Range RFO Vivek said, "Dodda Ningaiah had gone to graze his cattle when a tiger attacked him. Senior forest officials have visited the site and carried out an inspection."

Wildlife activist Joseph Hoover said, "In all the three attacks, the victims have suffered deep claw injuries to the face and neck. Three tigers have already been captured and shifted to rehabilitation centres in Bannerghatta and Koorgalli. It's unclear if the same tiger is responsible for both the recent attacks. There are at least three tigers in the region, including two sub-adults, and a tigress with two cubs in the forest bordering Sargur taluk."

130 foresters deployed to catch tiger

Over 130 forest personnel have been deployed to capture the tiger that killed a farmer at Bennegere village in Sargur taluk on October 26.

Following the death of farmer Rajashekar, the Forest Department has been conducting an extensive operation since Monday to capture the big cat. During the combing operation on Wednesday, officials found fresh pugmarks of a tiger in the fields of Bennegere village.

The operation is being conducted in areas under the Mullur Gram Panchayat, located on the fringes of Nugu Wildlife Zone within the Bandipur Tiger Reserve. Forest staff are using camp elephants -- Mahendra, Bheem, and Rohit -- to assist in the search, while trap cages have been placed to capture the animal. The operation is led by Chief Conservator of Forests (CF) Prabhakaran, Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Paramesh and wildlife veterinarians Dr Ramesh and Dr Wasim Mirza.

Tiger attacks

- October 26: Farmer Rajashekar Murthy (55) was killed by a tiger while grazing cattle in an open field between Mulluru Hundi and Bennegere villages near Chikkadevamma Hill, within the Bandipur Tiger Reserve.
- October 16: Mahadeva Gowda (35), a farmer from Badagalapura village, was severely injured in a tiger attack. He lost his eyesight after suffering grievous injuries to his face and remains in critical condition

Revanth announces Rs 5L relief for flood-hit families

Student dies by suicide over harassment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Visakhapatnam

A 21-year-old student allegedly died by suicide on Friday, after being 'sexually harassed' by female lecturers at a private degree college under the jurisdiction of MVP police station in Visakhapatnam. The deceased was identified as Sai Teja, a final year degree student, and a resident of MVP Colony.

Speaking to TNIE, the college students alleged that Sai Teja resorted to the extreme step due to sexual harassment by female lecturers. They accused the female lecturers of harassing the student to rewrite the practical records.

Responding to the incident, the college principal said, "We will take action once a written complaint is submitted by the family members of the deceased student against the female lecturers responsible for the incident." The principal assured the family members and students that the college management will ensure justice is served in the incident.

The MVP Police Station Circle Inspector confirmed that the student committed suicide by hanging himself at his house. Based on a complaint lodged by the family members of the deceased student, a case was registered. The body was shifted to King George Hospital for postmortem, the CI said.

Elephant tramples 2 to death in C'magaluru

Harish Shetty

Umesh Gowda

Chikkamagaluru: An elephant trampled two farmers to death near Elsar in Sringeri taluk on Friday. In the last two years, seven people have died in elephant attacks in the Sringeri Assembly constituency. The victims are Harish Shetty and Umesh Gowda. They had gone to the forest to bring grass to their cattle, when the elephant attacked them around 7 am. Harish is survived by his wife and two daughters, while Umesh is survived by his wife and two sons. Hundreds of farmers blocked the Kerekatte-Sringeri National Highway, affecting traffic on. They shouted slogans against the state and central governments and elected representatives, and demanded that the forest minister and district in-charge minister visit the spot to hear their grievances.

PAY PANEL MUST KEEP AN EYE ON WELFARE, INFRASTRUCTURE NEEDS

ENDING months of hand-wringing, the Union government has finally announced the formation of the 8th Pay Commission to recommend salary revisions for government employees. This is welcome news for 47 lakh employees and nearly 68 lakh pensioners. Yet, the timing has invited scrutiny. Although the Centre initiated the process before the Delhi assembly elections, it took over ten months to set the wheels in motion — and the formal announcement now comes just ahead of the Bihar polls.

The irony is that employees will still have to wait. The commission is expected to take about two years to study pay structures, allowances, and pension obligations, and submit its report by April 2027. Implementation could take longer, pushing the actual rollout to late-2027 or early-2028—conveniently close to the 2029 general elections—although salary revisions will be effective retrospectively from January 1, 2026.

Beyond delays and optics, the fiscal implications are sobering. The estimated outgo of ₹2.4–3.2 lakh crore will strain public finances. Historically, pay panels have balanced government capacity, economic growth, and inflation. Yet, successive revisions have substantially expanded long-term expenditure, often rising faster than per-capita income growth. The 7th Pay Commission's 2.57-fold increase in basic pay—a 157 percent jump—is a case in point.

Today, the pension bill alone exceeds ₹2.6 lakh crore, surpassing salary payouts. Together, salaries and pensions consume more than 18 percent of the Centre's revenue expenditure, crowding out investments in infrastructure, healthcare, education, and welfare. While reforms like the market-linked contributory pension scheme were introduced to ease the burden, a large cohort still receives benefits under the older, fiscally heavier system.

The upcoming revision thus carries serious fiscal implications. The 8th Pay Commission must strike a prudent balance—safeguarding employee welfare and dignity while protecting long-term economic stability and ensuring that critical public spending does not suffer. In an economy aspiring for sustained, broad-based growth, populism cannot come at the cost of national financial health.

INDUCED RAIN LEAVES A CLOUD OF QUESTIONS

IN a region where agriculture, commerce, and culture have been shaped by monsoon rains for millennia, artificially induced precipitation is bound to be seen as a spectacle just short of a miracle. So all eyes were on the national capital's first cloud-seeding experiment this Tuesday. With help from IIT Kanpur, the Delhi government used a light aircraft to seed clouds with chemical agents that stimulate moisture formation. A sum of ₹3.2 crore was allotted for five trials aimed at measuring whether the technology could effectively disperse airborne particles. When the underwhelming rainfall hardly made a dent in the hazardous brown dome hovering over Delhi, the sub-optimal moisture level was blamed. No further trial has since been announced after the first one comprising three sorties.

One could argue the timing was appropriate—this year recorded the highest post-Diwali spike in particulate matter of 2.5 micrometres or smaller in Delhi's air. However, the trial triggered three commonsensical questions. First, if pollution spikes again just a day or two after the induced rain—as it did in Delhi—what is the point of incurring such a cost? Second, if the technology depends so directly on weather conditions, how can it be relied upon when needed? And third, what is the effect of such unseasonal rain on the crop fields that dot the national capital territory's fringes?

The technology isn't new. Karnataka, Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, and Gujarat have already experimented with it—to battle drought, not pollution; yet none has persisted with it. Indeed, cloud-seeding can only be a short-term solution at an opportune moment, if at all. To reduce Delhi's pollution for good, we need to learn from what China did after 2008, when it used the method to clear the skies for the Beijing Olympics. While setting an ambitious target, it included all provinces neighbouring Beijing, moved quickly away from coal and diesel, and boosted electric-vehicle sales and the urban rail network. In sharp contrast, India—which undertook the photogenic trial after denying the previous Delhi government's repeated request for it—has been caught sprinkling water near pollution sensors to falsely suppress the air-quality index.

The solutions aren't unknown to policymakers. However, nothing effective can be expected until we stop managing the optics and start going after the causes.

QUICK TAKE

A STINKY BOOMERANG

THE European Union recently expanded the list of products banned for export to Russia as part of its 19th sanctions package against the country. And Vittorio Torrembini, president of an association of Italian entrepreneurs in Russia, is raising a stink about it. Among his grouses is $163 million that he estimates Italian manufacturers are losing out on just because sanitaryware is on the expanded list. It's difficult to flush down this unexpected blowback from a toilet-and-bidet export ban without a chuckle. If nothing else, it reeks of the increasing absurdity of the global trade war. Maybe the EU should consider easing its ban on helium imports from Russia—then its squeak would sound more convincing.

Trump's Gaza ceasefire has been rattled by Israel's continued killings. Differences also exist between Hamas and various Palestinian factions. For a just peace, change is needed on both sides

STILL EYELESS IN GAZA: OCCUPATION BY ANOTHER NAME

ACHIN VANAIK

Retired Professor of international relations and global politics, University of Delhi

SOURAV ROY

THE first phase of Donald Trump's 20-point Gaza plan calling for a ceasefire came into effect on October 10. Since then, Israel has killed more than 200 Palestinian civilians and injured more than 600 among those who were seeking to return home. No doubt there will be more fatalities.

Unfortunately, most governments including India's have refused to call Israel to account, taking refuge in the fact that there has been a major break from the earlier genocidal campaign of mass-scale military assault in Gaza. If some countries were prepared to call this a genocide, India certainly was not one of them which, if nothing else, is morally revealing of the nature of the present government.

Whether this ceasefire will last depends on Trump's willingness to restrain and override Benjamin Netanyahu, who says a full-scale assault will be resumed if all the dead hostages are not quickly returned, and that Gaza—that is, Hamas, Palestinian Islamic Jihad and other such groups—must be fully disarmed. But such is the devastation that recovering all the bodies will likely take many more weeks; many may never be recovered.

Furthermore, Hamas and the other armed Palestinian factions, even as they now possess mostly small arms and explosive devices re-tooled from Israel's unexploded munitions, have made it clear that disarmament can only be on the negotiating agenda when there the Israel Defence Forces completely withdraw from Gaza, as was laid out in earlier negotiated pacts that were signed, but deliberately violated, by Israel.

Even if this fragile peace holds, what of the future? What do the three key actors—Trump, Israel and Hamas—want in the short and long runs?

The Trump-Netanyahu dance

Trump's peace plan is a collaborative project with Israel and is about rearranging the occupation, not a blueprint for achieving a just peace for Palestine and the region. Tensions exist between Israel and Trump, whose regional ambitions include deepening political and economic relationships with various Arab regimes, thus entertaining possible concessions Israel may not want—even though extending the Abraham Accords, especially to Saudi Arabia, would certainly reassure Israel.

Israel's first preference is simple—complete the job it started after October 7, 2023, when it deliberately violated negotiated commitments to try and take over the whole of Gaza by ethnic cleansing through massacres and 'voluntary' emigration proposals to reduce the Palestinian population to easily-managed levels.

It is important to note that the Trump administration had endorsed the 'voluntary' emigration scheme and contacted countries like Sudan and Somalia to see if, for a price, they would be hosts to those expelled. The way would then be cleared for reintroducing Jewish settlers and exploiting the gas and mineral reserves of Gaza.

In time, after the anger of Arab governments at the continued brutality subsides, projects like the India-Middle East-Europe Economic Corridor and the India-Israel-UAE-US group for economic cooperation could be consolidated. These would bind Israel with key Arab governments to mutual material benefit, thereby further marginalising the concern for Palestine. Trump has withdrawn that voluntary scheme; for Israel to revert to that earlier genocidal course, Trump would have to be persuaded that Hamas is 'betraying' his peace plan and must be punished.

There is a second option for Israel. Help Trump in fleshing out the second and third phases of his plan in some workable way. Israel, according to the plan, will retain a strong military presence and a significant buffer zone in Gaza. Vast tracts of land have already been captured since the start of the genocide and most of these gains will be retained.

Don't forget that Trump from the very beginning has wanted to make profits for himself and other investors from the US, Israel, and elsewhere, even from certain Arab allies, through privatised luxury developments. That still remains a goal, and pursuing it will mean an even greater degree of ghettoisation and concentration of the Palestinians in Gaza.

The plan aims to give supreme power to the Board of Peace, whose membership will be decided by Trump and his solidly pro-Israel advisers while leaving local administration in the hands of obedient Palestinians whose appointment Israel will want to have a veto on. It should be an even more supine and powerless body than that of the Fatah-run Palestinian Authority in the West Bank.

Incidentally, the US has not categorically rejected the latest Israeli legislation codifying its annexations in the West Bank. US Secretary of State Marco Rubio was careful to say, "I think the president has made clear that's not something we'd be supportive of right now."

Hamas & Palestine's future

Matters are clearer for Hamas. It wants to buy the maximum amount of time for a relative peace that will enable aid and reconstruction to rebuild lives and hopes in Gaza. It has long made clear that it will not be part of any transitional governing body, preferring a technical committee whose membership is collectively agreed by the various Palestinian political factions.

Some of these factions will retain a presence in Gaza while the establishment of an armed International Stabilising Force—comprising troops from some Arab and possibly other countries—can be a buffer against the Israeli military, provided the top decision-making Board of Peace does not direct it to suppress or destroy these very factions.

If Israel is not allowed to militarily disrupt the status quo for long enough, then hopefully a reorganisation can take place in the Palestine Liberation Organization through the long-delayed elections for the Palestinian Legislative Council and the presidency of the Palestinian Authority. If the elections are free and fair, the increasingly unpopular Fatah would be replaced by a new leadership that would greatly energise the Palestinian resistance and disturb the nearby Arab countries, because it would very likely stimulate domestic resistances against their authoritarian rule and call for much stronger support and solidarity for Palestine.

Justice for Palestine is only going to be achievable in the much longer run. For now, keeping alive and deepening the spirit of resistance, especially in non-violent forms, and expanding international solidarity is all-important.

WHY NERDS ARE HERDING TO PUBS

PRATIK KANJILAL

SPEAKEASY

ALL cats die. Socrates is dead. Therefore Socrates is a cat," said the Logician in Eugène Ionesco's play Rhinoceros. It was a deliberately broken example of Aristotle's syllogism: "All men are mortal. Socrates is a man. Therefore, Socrates is mortal." Socrates, Aristotle, Ionesco, cats, and absurdity could all be hot topics for Lectures on Tap, which have become popular in America's better-educated cities over the last year. A group called Pint of View is bringing the phenomenon to India—among others, political theorist Rajeev Bhargava has done a show with them.

Lectures on Tap are ticketed pop-up events held in bars and restaurants, where a teacher from the Lawrence Livermore National Lab, MIT, or similar institute delivers a 40-minute lecture about quantum gravity or Bertolt Brecht to a nerdy audience. It's popular because many of us have unrequited intellectual passions. Woody Allen published a story about it in 1974 in The New Yorker. 'The Whore of Mensa' was satirical noir in which a hardboiled gumshoe busted an extortion racket in which foolish men titillated by highbrow things were honey-trapped by erudite women in anonymous motel rooms: "For a price, she'll come over and discuss any subject—Proust, Yeats, anthropology. Exchange of ideas."

There it is: whether at a pop-up lecture or a motel tryst, the buyer is in search of intellectual stimulation. But why are university teachers becoming sellers of nerd entertainment? There is no causal link between these phenomena, but the demand and supply curves have met with a satisfying thump.

For at least two decades, across Western academia, there has been a withdrawal of support for disciplines that do not make much money. Fewer students have been signing up for PhDs—and the intimidating student loans that finance them. Scholarships are dwindling as higher education is commercialised and foreign students fall back on personal loans back home. The Trump effect is the $100,000 surcharge on new H-1B applications. Foreign students have lost the standard route to residency and employment after their education. So it's harder to pay back loans, and foreign student arrivals have fallen 19 percent, with Indian arrivals down 45 percent. Some believe that the strike on H-1Bs actually targets elite universities.

Campuses are adjusting to budget cuts. The student paper Harvard Crimson reports that the university's faculty of arts and sciences will cut PhD admissions by 75 percent in the sciences for the next two years. Arts and humanities courses will cut PhD seats by 60 percent, and the social sciences by 50-70 percent. The sociology department will have none the year after. Nearby campuses are downsizing, too. The Brown Daily Herald reports that Brown University will drop PhD admissions in at least six humanities and social science departments, including Egyptology, Assyriology and the classics, subjects that fascinate millions.

X.COM

Facing funding cuts and reprioritising of subjects on campus, teachers in American university towns are going for side hustles in highbrow entertainment—as standup lecturers in pubs and restaurants. This formal-informal mix may have unintended consequences

The US has been the PhD factory of the world, and its students go on to do epic research that brings the country prestige and prizes along with industrial and military pre-eminence. Now, these eminent scholars will pitch their tents to give other nations the advantage. For instance, Abhijit Banerjee and Esther Duflo, who shared a Nobel Prize in economics in 2019, are quitting MIT to start a research centre at the University of Zurich. The urge to move on is visible among younger researchers and professionals in cities like Boston, where academic and commercial labs lie thick on the ground. And attrition due to AI in the lower echelons has only begun. Transnationals like Amazon and TCS are shedding people on an unprecedented scale, and obfuscating the reason with management jargon.

So, no surprise if university teachers are venturing into side hustles in highbrow entertainment, popping up in bars and restaurants to do standup lecturing. It's like a TED talk with food and beverages—the feast of reason and the flow of soul, for a cover price. Some time ago, people would have wondered what this says about perceptions of learning. Now, we know. Maybe it gives courage to teachers who feel like they're in an extinction event, telling them that they won't have to turn to pakoda-nomics to remain relevant. In a perverse way, maybe it's even reassuring that there will be ever-bigger audiences for off-campus learning in many nations which are now thought leaders, where economic pressures could exclude more people from a life of the intellect.

The geographical redistribution of talent has almost no implication for India, despite the government's earnest proposal to welcome leading academics back home. Going by past experience, India is happy to follow the lead of the US in matters of academic finance. In the early 2000s, IITs were instructed to reduce reliance on public funding and generate revenue through patents, industry partnerships, and consultancy, as American colleges do. Now, there's no opportunity to follow Trump's lead, because Indian governments have stepped on campuses hard enough.

Will Indian academics be tempted to go out and perform? Historians are having fun doing it. Will physicists follow suit, and further blur the boundary between the campus and the world? Who knows, democratised knowledge could be a refreshing change from the dogmatisms in traditional academia. But we must take care: as political and commercial forces eat away at the distinction between the formal and the informal, we may come to the inescapable conclusion that Socrates is indeed a cat. (Views are personal)

SARDAR PATEL'S 150TH BIRTH ANNIV

From Kashmir to Maoists, India striking hard: PM

At Statue of Unity, Modi recalls Iron Man of India's vision of 'Ek Bharat, Shreshtha Bharat'

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday marked Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel's 150th birth anniversary with a call for unity and national security, promising to remove every infiltrator and crush the remnants of Naxal-Maoist terror. Speaking at the Statue of Unity in Ekta Nagar, Modi invoked Patel's legacy as India's "Iron Man," saying his government draws inspiration from the same resolve that forged the nation's unity.

"This is Sardar Patel's India—it will never compromise on its security or self-respect," the Prime Minister declared, addressing a large gathering at the site dedicated to Patel, who oversaw the integration of more than 550 princely states after Independence. Modi said the occasion was not just a tribute but a reaffirmation of the nation's commitment to Patel's vision of Ek Bharat, Shreshtha Bharat.

Modi claimed that since 2014, India has delivered a "decisive blow" to Naxal-Maoist insurgency, asserting that the number of affected districts has dropped from 125 to just 11. "Before 2014, there were regions where the Constitution did not apply. Today, development and peace have reached those areas," he said, adding that the battle would continue "until the last trace of Maoism is erased."

Turning to border and internal security, the Prime Minister described infiltration as a "long-ignored danger" that previous governments had overlooked for political reasons. "This government has resolved to remove every infiltrator, no matter where they hide," he said, linking the issue directly to national integrity and demographic stability.

Revisiting Patel's unrealized dream of full integration in Jammu and Kashmir, Modi said the abrogation of Article 370 fulfilled that mission. "The then leadership stopped Patel's will from being fulfilled," he said, adding that the decision in 2019 had "freed Kashmir from its shackles" and brought it into the national mainstream.

Modi also cited cross-border strikes and Operation Sindoor as proof of India's new confidence, saying the country now responds decisively to any external threat. "If anyone dares to challenge us, we strike within enemy territory," he said.

The Prime Minister further urged citizens to reject "colonial mindsets" and divisive politics, citing steps such as renaming Rajpath to Kartavya Path and building memorials to unsung heroes. Concluding his address, Modi said unity remained India's greatest strength. "The greatest devotion to Maa Bharati is service to the nation," he said. "Together, 140 crore Indians will fulfill the dream of Ek Bharat, Shreshtha Bharat, and build a Viksit Bharat."

Russia, US to join Navy events next yr; China, Pak & Turkey not invited

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

MORE than 55 countries have expressed their willingness to participate in the Indian Navy's simultaneous hosting of three major international maritime events at Visakhapatnam in February 2026. The United States and Russia will take part, but China, Turkey, and Pakistan have not been invited.

Vice Admiral Sanjay Vatsayan, Navy Vice Chief, confirmed that "both the United States and Russia have confirmed participation in the International Fleet Review and the Milan exercise". He said that "they would be sending their ships, and some aircraft are also expected."

The Navy will hold the International Fleet Review (IFR), Exercise MILAN, and the Indian Ocean Naval Symposium Conclave of Chiefs from February 15 to 25, 2026. This will be the first time all three events will be held together.

At a curtain-raiser event in New Delhi on Friday, Vice Admiral Vatsayan said, "We have extended invites to a large number of nations, and so far, we have got responses from over 55 countries who have expressed their willingness to attend," he said. "A very large number of navies are also participating through high-level delegations. These numbers will change as confirmations are still coming in."

The Vice Admiral declined to say whether China had been invited, but officials later confirmed that China, Turkey, and Pakistan were not invited. According to sources, Turkey was excluded because of its support for Pakistan during Operation Sindoor, reflecting India's broader geopolitical assessment. Earlier this week, Indian officials skipped the Turkish National Day reception at Ankara's embassy in New Delhi.

The Defence Ministry said the events will reflect India's commitment to free, open, and inclusive seas, guided by initiatives such as Mahasagar, the Act East Policy, IONS, and the Indo-Pacific Oceans Initiative.

A Presidential Fleet Review at sea will be the highlight, featuring India's indigenously built platforms, including INS Vikrant, Visakhapatnam-class destroyers, Nilgiri-class frigates, and Arnala-class corvettes.

The 2026 convergence, the ministry said, would transform naval tradition into strategic cooperation and underscore India's role as a responsible maritime power.

Zubeen Garg's last film breaks box office record

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

FANS could not hold back their tears, both inside and outside theatre halls, after watching Roi Roi Binale, the last film featuring music icon Zubeen Garg who died under mysterious circumstances in Singapore on September 19.

The movie, directed by Rajesh Bhuyan and released on Friday, ran to packed houses across Assam and broke all opening day records with most theatre halls scheduling it for up to five shows a day.

The screening started at 4.25 am at several theatre halls. The tickets of all shows for the first week have got sold out. Fans booked the first three days' tickets within an hour last week.

The state is still grieving Garg's untimely demise, and there was an outpouring of emotion when fans thronged the single-screen and multiplex theatres. In viral videos, some were seen seated inside theatre halls even after shows were over, sobbing.

"For the first time in the history of Assamese films, a movie is being released in different parts of the country. There will be 600 shows daily in Assam and the Northeast. Elsewhere, 96 halls would screen the movie.

Let chief secys come: SC in strays case

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday ruled that chief secretaries must appear in person before the court on November 3 in connection with the stray dogs menace case.

The court rejected Solicitor General Tushar Mehta's request for their exemption from physical appearance, stating, "Let them come." A two-judge bench headed by Justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta said that there was no respect for the order of the court, asserting that the chief secretaries will have to appear physically.

"We are trying to solve the issues which should have been done by the state governments. They show no respect for our order. When we require them to come and file compliance affidavit, they just sleep over it. Then alright, Let them come, we will deal with them. They must file compliance affidavits," it remarked.

Rejecting Mehta's request for appearance of the officers through the video conferencing mode, the bench said, "Sorry, they have to come physically to the court".

The ruling comes a day after the SC refused the Bihar government's prayer to allow the state's chief secretary seeking personal appearance exemption in the case.

"We asked them (state chief Secretaries) why no compliance affidavit been filed, but they were now seeking personal exemption," the court pointed out.

Earlier on October 27, the SC directed the chief secretaries of almost all states and Union Territories to appear before it on November 3 to explain why no compliance affidavits have yet been filed in the case.

"Your officers don't read newspapers? They don't read social media? They want a formal notice to be issued to them?" the bench, led by Justice Nath, had said.

After Bihar and several other states allegedly failed to file the compliance affidavit, the top court decided to direct those state's chief secretaries for their personal presence on November 3.

It said all chief secretaries, except those of Telangana and West Bengal, should be present before it on said date, otherwise, "we will hold the court in auditorium," it said.

The court had, on August 22, reversed its earlier order directing the authorities to move all stray dogs to shelters and said they can be released to the same area from where they were captured after proper sterilisation and immunisation, except those infected with rabies or exhibiting aggressive behaviour. It barred the feeding of the dogs in public places.

Backdrop of the move

The court had, on August 22, reversed its earlier order directing the authorities to move all stray dogs to shelters and said they can be released to the same area from where they were captured after proper sterilisation and immunisation, except those infected with rabies or exhibiting aggressive behaviour.

No summoning of lawyers over advice to clients barring special cases: SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday ruled that investigating officers cannot issue summons to lawyers appearing for the accused unless the matter is covered under any of the exceptions under Section 132 of the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam (BSA).

The SC set aside the summons issued by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) to two senior lawyers, Arvind Datar and Pratap Venugopal, and said they infringed the fundamental rights of the accused who hired them.

A bench comprising Chief Justice BR Gavai and Justices K Vinod Chandran and NV Anjaria delivered the verdict in a suo motu case taken up after the ED summoned Datar and Venugopal in connection to a money laundering probe.

"The investigating authorities shall not issue a summons to any advocate seeking details of the client, unless it is covered in any of the exceptions under Section 132. When the summons is so issued, it should expressly state the facts upon which it has so relied upon," said the bench.

Section 132 of BSA establishes the privilege for confidential communications between lawyers and their clients. This section prohibits advocates from disclosing such communications without the clients' express consent.

"Summons to the lawyers shall not be issued without the consent of a superior officer not below the rank of Superintendent of Police, who will record satisfaction as to the exception in the provision," the bench said, adding that such summons would be subject to the judicial review.

If a digital device is produced, the court will issue notice to the party with respect to whom the details are sought to be discovered from the digital device, and hear him and the advocate on any objection, the bench said.

If the objections are overruled, the device can be opened in presence of the party and advocate who will be provided assistance of experts, it said.

BJP raises 'Sheesh Mahal' bogey in Punjab on AAP's 'fake Yamuna' claim

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE ghost of Delhi's "Sheesh Mahal" controversy has returned to haunt Arvind Kejriwal. The BJP's Delhi unit on Friday accused the AAP chief and former Delhi Chief Minister of misusing Punjab government resources to prepare a "7-star, two-acre government bungalow" in Chandigarh's Sector 2 for himself.

In a post on X, the BJP claimed Kejriwal had been allotted the property from Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann's "quota". "After vacating the Sheesh Mahal in Delhi, Punjab's 'Super CM' Arvind Kejriwal has now had an even more magnificent Sheesh Mahal prepared in Punjab. In Chandigarh's Sector 2, Arvind Kejriwal has been allotted a luxurious 7-star government bungalow spread over two acres from the CM's quota."

The BJP's "Sheesh Mahal" reference recalls last year's storm over the alleged lavish renovation of Kejriwal's official residence on Flagstaff Road in Delhi — a controversy that became a political flashpoint between the two parties in the Assembly elections.

Swati Maliwal takes potshots at Kejriwal

AAP's Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal — a critic of the party leadership — alleged that Kejriwal was using Punjab government aircraft for personal and political travel. "He boarded a government helicopter from Delhi to Ambala and then took the Punjab government's private jet to Gujarat for party work," she said.

The AAP dismissed the latest charge as "fake and fabricated." In a statement, the party said, "Ever since the Prime Minister's fake Yamuna story was exposed, the BJP seems to have lost its cool. Fake Yamuna, fake pollution figures, fake claims of rainfall, and now fake 7-star claims."

AAP also questioned the plausibility of the BJP's charge, noting that Chandigarh is administered by the Centre. "If the BJP claims the house was allotted, then where is the allotment letter?" it asked, insisting that the image circulating online was only of the Punjab Chief Minister's camp office.

Adding to the row, AAP's Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal — a known critic of the party leadership — alleged that Kejriwal was using Punjab government aircraft for personal and political travel. "He boarded a government helicopter from Delhi to Ambala and then took the Punjab government's private jet to Gujarat for party work," she posted on X, accusing the Mann government of "serving one man."

The controversy draws clear parallels with the 2023 "Sheesh Mahal" episode when the BJP accused Kejriwal of violating norms during the renovation of his official residence in Delhi.

IMD predicts warmer Nov, no harsh winter

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

NOVEMBER is likely to be relatively warmer and wetter than usual in most parts of the country, according to the India Meteorological Department. The Met Office has also indicated that weaker La Niña conditions are likely to persist in the coming months, dispelling rumours of an extremely harsh winter.

However, it noted that the La Niña phenomenon could result in decreased rainfall in Tamil Nadu and Puducherry during the northeast monsoon.

Predicting warmer nights and relatively cooler days, the Met office stated that the daytime temperatures would be normal to below normal across most areas, barring parts of northeast India, northwest India, southern peninsular, and the Himalayan foothills.

Regarding minimum temperatures, most of the country is likely to experience above-normal minimum temperatures, except in some regions of northwest India where normal to below-normal minimum temperatures are anticipated. Delhi, Haryana, and Rajasthan may experience colder nights, the weatherman said.

As for November rainfall, the northeast monsoon over South Peninsular India—comprising five meteorological subdivisions: Tamil Nadu, Puducherry & Karaikkal, Coastal Andhra Pradesh & Yanam, Rayalaseema, and Kerala & Mahe—is likely to be normal, accounting for 77-123% of the Long Period Average (LPA).

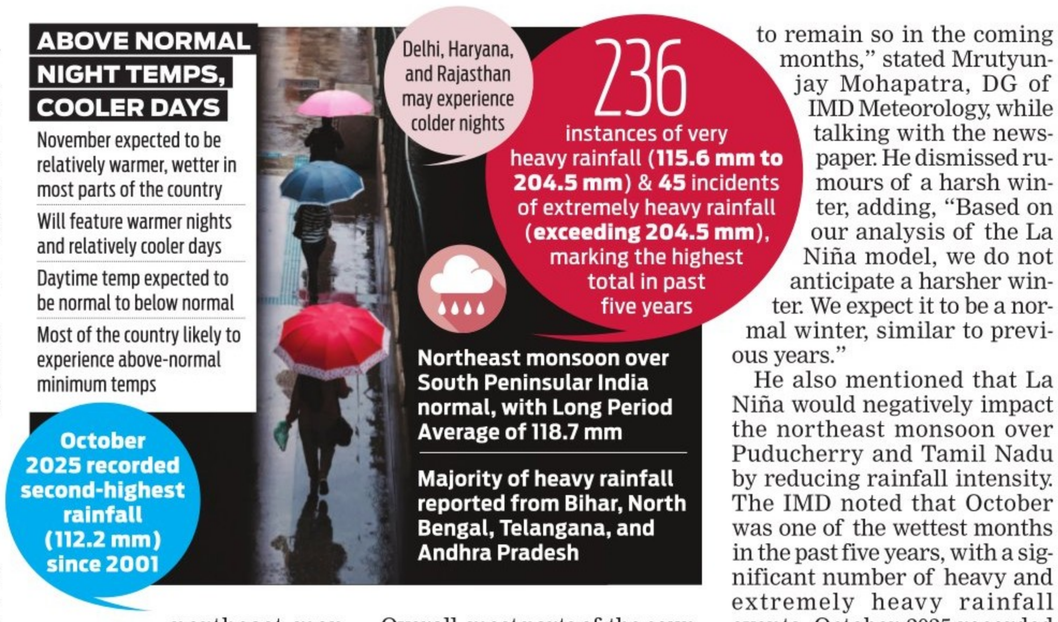
The LPA of rainfall in South Peninsular India for November, based on data from 1971 to 2020, is approximately 118.7 mm. Overall, most parts of the country are expected to receive normal to above-normal rainfall during November 2025.

The IMD reported that La Niña conditions are currently prevailing over the Equatorial Pacific Ocean, and the latest model forecasts indicate that these conditions are likely to continue into November and December 2025.

"The prevailing La Niña condition is weaker and is expected to remain so in the coming months," stated Mrutyunjay Mohapatra, DG of IMD Meteorology, while talking with the newspaper. He dismissed rumours of a harsh winter, adding, "Based on our analysis of the La Niña model, we do not anticipate a harsher winter. We expect it to be a normal winter, similar to previous years."

He also mentioned that La Niña would negatively impact the northeast monsoon over Puducherry and Tamil Nadu by reducing rainfall intensity. The IMD noted that October was one of the wettest months in the past five years, with a significant number of heavy and extremely heavy rainfall events. October 2025 recorded thesecond-highest rainfall (112.2 mm) since 2001 and was the 16th highest since 1901.

Moreover, there were 236 instances of very heavy rainfall (115.6 mm to 204.5 mm) and 45 incidents of extremely heavy rainfall (exceeding 204.5 mm), marking the highest total in the past five years. The majority of extremely heavy rainfall was reported from Bihar, North Bengal, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh.



ABOVE NORMAL NIGHT TEMPS, COOLER DAYS
November expected to be relatively warmer, wetter in most parts of the country
Will feature warmer nights and relatively cooler days
Daytime temp expected to be normal to below normal
Most of the country likely to experience above-normal minimum temps
October 2025 recorded second-highest rainfall (112.2 mm) since 2001
Delhi, Haryana, and Rajasthan may experience colder nights
236 instances of very heavy rainfall (115.6 mm to 204.5 mm) & 45 incidents of extremely heavy rainfall (exceeding 204.5 mm), marking the highest total in past five years
Northeast monsoon over South Peninsular India normal, with Long Period Average of 118.7 mm

With 'new' Nalanda, Nitish home turf showcases 'Bihar's progress'

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Nalanda

FROM Bihar's historic city of Patliputra, now Patna, to the ancient centres of Nalanda and Rajgir, the signs of change are visible. Multi-lane highways, roadside eateries, hotels, and educational institutions mark the route to Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's home district — a region often showcased as a symbol of Bihar's progress.

Among Nalanda's many claims to fame, the spotlight this election season is on the revived Nalanda University. Located about 15 kilometres from the ruins of the ancient site, the 455-acre carbon-neutral campus, with economist Arvind Panagariya as its chancellor, has become a talking point in speeches by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah, and Nitish Kumar.

Amid intense campaigning, local voters seem confident that Nitish Kumar remains a strong contender. "Just as Narendra Modi did a lot for Gujarat, our Nitish Kumar has done the same for Bihar and more for Nalanda," said Devender Yadav, who runs a tea stall in Nalanda. "I don't belong to his caste, Kurmi, but I know he deserves to continue for the larger good of the state."

Mohan Kumar of Daniyaba offered a different view. "The new Nalanda University with all modern facilities is impressive, but Bihar needs the same restructuring elsewhere. Nitish Kumar must extend this blueprint beyond Nalanda," he said. Nalanda's famous sweet, khaja, continues to draw visitors to shops in Rajgir, including the popular "Kali Sah ka Khaja Dukan."

"The same is the popularity of Nalanda's politics," said retired banker Shashtri Prasad. "Here, individual candidates matter less. What matters more is the alliance. The NDA and Mahagathbandhan are being tested, but Nalanda still stands with Nitish." He added that while MLAs face local scrutiny, Nitish Kumar's legacy and Modi's assurances could help the NDA.

The RJD-led Mahagathbandhan, meanwhile, is focusing on employment and governance issues. Some voters, though, take a practical view. "Sab kuch process se hota hai. Unemployment dur ho raha hai. Ye kabhi bhi zero nahi ho sakta India mein," said Shakunta Devi, 48, who runs a cosmetic shop with her daughter Rita. In Bihar Sharif, Shweta Kumari, a schoolteacher, and her sister Anju, a first-time voter, expressed faith in the Modi–Nitish partnership. But their father, Dular Verma, and their brother, Mahesh, differed. "We'll give Tejashwi Yadav's Mahagathbandhan a chance. If they fail, we'll change them next time," they said.

At Nalanda University, far from the campaign noise, peace prevails. Yet, development gaps remain. "Yahan sab kuch hai, lekin road yahan aane ka abhi bhi narrow hai," said Mukesh Kumar, who runs a food stall near the campus. "The fight here is between the NDA, led by Nitish and Narendra, and the Mahagathbandhan, led by Tejashwi and Rahul," said Anuj Kumar, an MBA graduate. "The results will depend on caste equations and how voters judge the government's record."

The Mahagatbandhan relies primarily on Yadav and Muslim consolidation, along with smaller castes, centred on Tejashwi Yadav's main campaign issue: unemployment. The NDA is focusing on empowering Nari Shakti and Yuva Shakti. Nalanda, with a population of 36 lakh, of which less than 7% are Muslims, remains a district where Nitish's influence is being tested.

DECODE BIHAR POLL DECIDE

Soren not to campaign for polls over seats denial

Amid the ongoing tussle over denial of seats to Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) by RJD and Congress in the Grand Alliance in the Assembly polls, CM Hemant Soren will keep away from the campaigning in these elections. Jharkhand's ruling JMM is not contesting the elections in neighbouring Bihar, in the wake of a "political conspiracy" by its allies.

EC seeks report on killing of PK party supporter as Mokama remains tense

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) has sought a detailed report on the killing of a Jan Suraaj Party supporter in Mokama assembly constituency of Patna district, directing Bihar DGP Vinay Kumar to submit an action taken report at the earliest.

The victim, 75-year-old Dularchand Yadav, was allegedly killed during a clash between supporters of Jan Suraaj Party candidate Priyadarshi Piyush and those of JD(U) nominee Anant Singh during campaigning under Ghoswari police station limits on Thursday.

Reports claimed stone pelting and firing occurred in Mokama following Yadav's murder and a subsequent attack on the car of RJD candidate Veena Devi, wife of don-turned-politician Surajbhan Singh. Police have registered an FIR against four individuals, including JD(U) candidate Anant Singh. Singh has reportedly gone into hiding since the case was lodged on Friday.

Tension flared again on Friday when Veena Devi's vehicle was pelted with stones near Pandarak, followed by protests demanding justice for Yadav's family. Visuals from the area showed a few incidents of stone pelting and gunfire, with one local heard shouting, "Anant Singh's men are firing."

The funeral procession of Dularchand Yadav — once known to be close to both RJD chief Lalu Prasad and Chief Minister Nitish Kumar — was held amid tight security. Several supporters of the deceased gathered outside the Barh subdivisional hospital in protest.

Jan Suraaj Party founder Prashant Kishor condemned the killing and accused the district administration of failing to maintain law and order. Calling it a "return of jungle raj," he said Yadav was not a formal party member but had been supporting Jan Suraaj's candidate Priyadarshi Piyush.

According to Barh SDPO Abhishek Singh, the incident occurred when the convoys of the two groups crossed paths, and one side allegedly opened fire and tried to run over the other.

Renaming spree now reaches village level

After renaming districts, railway stations and cities, the UP government is now renaming villages. CM Yogi Adityanath's decision to rechristen Mustafabad village in Lakhimpur Kheri district as 'Kabir Dham' has brought the archlights back on BJP's move of blending religio-cultural identity with electoral calculus. In 2024, BJP's two-term MP and former Union minister Ajay Mishra Teni lost the Kheri Lok Sabha seat to SP. Mustafabad village with a population of around 3,000 people is home to a holy site dedicated to 15th-century Sufi ideologue Kabir Das.

Special security cover for bullion traders

In a first initiative in UP, Lucknow Police has introduced a special facility allowing bullion traders to call 112 for a Police Response Vehicle (PRV) escort while carrying large sums of cash or gold at night. The move aims at enhancing traders' security and strengthening coordination between police and the bullion community. In another first, a dedicated WhatsApp group will be created to enable real-time communication between jewellers and police for quick alerts and suspicious activity reporting. Moreover, police urged traders to get employee character verification done through the UPCOP app or via the official Lucknow Police website.

Omar rebuts as L-G says govt has 'all powers'

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

TENSIONS flared in Jammu and Kashmir on Friday after L-G Manoj Sinha said that the demand for statehood should not be used as an excuse to delay governance, asserting that the elected government enjoys "all powers". The remark drew a sharp response from the ruling National Conference president Farooq Abdullah, who accused him of "lying" and not returning a single file.

While speaking at the Foundation Day of J&K UT at SKICC here, Sinha said on the day J&K Reorganisation Act was passed, the Home Minister had informed Parliament that there will be first delimitation, then Assembly elections and then restoration of statehood at an appropriate time. He was indirectly referring to the elected government, which has been pressing for restoration of statehood to J&K.

"I know when Assembly elections in J&K were held, the situation was clear to everybody—that the elections were held for UT Assembly. The excuse that work will be done only after getting statehood cannot be accepted," L-G said.

CM Omar reacted, saying, "If the L-G has said that, we will respond at the right time."

PM to inaugurate C'garh Assembly building, unveil projects worth ₹14,260 cr

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will participate in Chhattisgarh Rajat Mahotsav on Saturday marking 25 years of the state's formation and inaugurate or lay the foundation stones for development projects worth ₹14,260 crore across key sectors, such as roads, industry, healthcare, and energy.

The PM will dedicate the state's new assembly building which is cited as a model of technological integration and foresight. More than an architectural marvel, the building stands as a living emblem of Chhattisgarh's rich culture, tradition, and faith, an official statement said.

Built at a cost of ₹324 crore, the complex spans 51 acres and is divided into three main wings. Wing A houses the assembly secretariat, Wing B includes the main chamber, the Central Hall, and offices for the chief minister and the speaker, and Wing C accommodates ministerial offices. "Every section has been planned for efficiency, accessibility, and aesthetic coherence," the statement said.

The Assembly Building embodies green architecture principles throughout. Solar-power installations, dual rainwater-harvesting lakes, and a suite of environment-friendly materials make the site a benchmark for sustainable infrastructure. Every stage of construction adhered to national standards for energy conservation and ecological balance.

As part of the 'Dil Ki Baat' programme, the PM will interact with around 2,500 children cured of congenital heart diseases in the 'Gift of life' ceremony at Sri Sathya Sai Sanjeevani Hospital at Nava Raipur. Besides inaugurating Shaheed Veer Narayan Singh Memorial & Tribal Freedom Fighters Museum, he will unveil the statue of former PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee at the new Vidhan Sabha and launch the museum portal and e-book 'Aadi Shourya'.

June next yr timeline set for Maha farm loan waiver: CM

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

CM Devendra Fadnavis on Friday announced that the state government will complete the farm loan waiver process by the end of June next year. Fadnavis, who had earlier opposed the idea of a waiver, said the decision was made to ensure meaningful relief for farmers. "The farm loan waiver should be done properly so that it helps farmers in a real sense," he said.

A committee headed by retired IAS officer Pravin Pardeshi, who currently serves as chief executive of the think tank MITRA, has been set up to prepare a detailed timeline and execution plan for the waiver, he said. "The committee will decide the norms for the waiver and suggest short- and long-term measures to address financial distress in the agriculture sector. Once the report is submitted, it will be implemented within three months," the chief minister said.

Reacting to the announcement, ex-minister and farmers' leader Bacchu Kadu said he was satisfied that the government had finally set a deadline. "Earlier, the government was not even giving an assurance. Now that we have a date, we will monitor the process to ensure the promise is kept," Kadu said.

Shiv Sena (UBT) chief Uddhav Thackeray criticised the government for delaying the relief. "Farmers are already in distress and need immediate help, but the government keeps giving date after date, like the courts. This will only push farmers closer to despair," Thackeray said.

Gujarat Cong to launch farmer march in Nov

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

GUJARAT Congress president Amit Chavda on Friday announced a week-long farmers' foot march, 'Khedut Aakrosh Yatra', from November 6 to 13, which will be taken out from Somnath to Dwarka.

The yatra will traverse 10 rain-affected districts of Saurashtra, engaging directly with farmers hit by unseasonal rains and crop loss. Through these interactions, Congress aims to amplify its demand for farm loan waivers and a special relief package from the Gujarat government, Chavda said.

Ahead of the yatra, Congress will intensify its agitation across the state. Between November 1 and 5, the party will hold protests at every taluka headquarters, where delegations will march to Mamlatdar offices with memorandum listing farmers' demands. On November 6, workers plan to "encircle" district collectors' offices .

Buddha relics to be exhibited at Sarnath

The sacred relics of Lord Buddha will be exhibited at Mulagandha Kuti Vihar, Sarnath, from November 3 to 5. The event coincides with the 94th anniversary of the Vihar, located at the site where the Buddha gave his first sermon, the Dharmachakra Pravartana. The ceremony will be organised by Maha Bodhi Society of India, Sarnath Centre, in collaboration with the Venerable Vietnamese Sangha and devotees from Hanoi as their support has made the exposition possible. The relics kept beneath the golden Buddha statue inside the shrine will be displayed, drawing monks, devotees, and pilgrims.

J'KHAND MIGRANTS' WOES

His last message to wife before death in Saudi

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

A 27-year-old migrant worker from Jharkhand died after being shot in a cross fire between the local police and criminals involved in illegal liquor trade at Saudi Arabia.

Despite being critically injured, Vijay Kumar Mahto managed to send a voice note to his wife back in his village, Dudhapania, under Dumri block of Giridih, informing her that he has mistakenly been hit by a bullet, and there is no chance of his survival.

In his message, he can be heard writhing in pain and telling his wife that only God could save him as he was vomiting blood. Other workers, who were with him, had fled the spot. He had been writhing in pain but no one came to his rescue, Mahto's cousin, Aman Kumar Mahto, said quoting him.

"The youth also said the bullet was meant for others, but it accidentally hit him," said Aman. Vijay, along with 20 other people, had gone to Saudi Arabia in January this year, he added.

'Only God can save me'

In his message, Vijay can be heard writhing in pain and telling his wife that only God could save him as he was vomiting blood. Other workers, who were with him, had fled the spot. He had been writhing in pain but no one came to his rescue. It was a bullet meant for others that struck him.

Aman informed that the incident occurred on October 16 when Vijay was walking near his company site – Hyundai Engineering and Construction Company at Saudi Arabia, along with other employees, when the incident took place.

He was rushed to a local hospital but succumbed to his injuries during treatment. The family, however, was informed about the death on October 24.

Later, the family approached the State Migrant Control Cell, under the Labour Department, requesting his body to be brought back. "The process for bringing back the body has been started," said Team Leader of State Migrant Control Cell, Shikha Lakra.

"We have referred the matter to the Protector of Emigrants (Ranchi) and the Indian Embassy in Riyadh for an investigation and repatriation of the mortal remains, she added.

Lakra, however, said that until the police investigation is completed, they will not release the body, she said. "The body will reach India only after the local authorities issues a no objection certificate," said Lakra.

As per the information provided by the Indian Embassy in Riyadh, the incident took place in the Jeddah region, which falls under the jurisdiction of the Consulate General of India (CGI), Jeddah.

The CGI informed that the death is being treated as suspicious, and Mahato's body remains in the custody of the Public Prosecution Office in Jumum, Makkah, until investigations are completed and a Police Clearance Certificate is issued.

No salary & food, 48 workers stuck in Tunisia for 6 months seek govt help

When we protested, they threatened to imprison us. We want to return home, but the firm is not leaving us

A worker

Not given promised jobs

Migrants were promised jobs as firm employees but discovered upon landing in Tunisia that the posts were contractual

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

FORTY-EIGHT workers from Jharkhand's Giridih, Bokaro and Hazaribagh districts have been stranded in the African country of Tunisia for the past several months.

Seeking the Indian government's intervention through a video message, the stranded workers said their salaries have been withheld for four to six months and they have run out of food.

According to the migrants, they were promised jobs as company employees but discovered upon landing in Tunisia that the positions were contractual.

Instead of the promised eight-hour duty, they have been required to work for over 12 hours daily, the migrants further claimed.

"When we protested, they threatened to imprison us," said one worker," Amardeep Choudhary. They identified Prem Power Constructions Limited, a company outsourced by Larsen & Toubro, as their employer.

"We want to return home, but the company is not leaving us," the video message shared by them said.

Of those stranded, nine hail from the Vishnugarh of Hazaribagh, 14 from Bagodar, Sariya, Pirtand, and Giridih blocks of Giridih district, while 15 are from Chandrapura, Gomia, and Petarwar areas of Bokaro.

Among these workers are Amardeep Choudhary, Nandlal Mahato, Ajay Kumar, Gurucharan Mahato, Lalu Karmali, and Sunil Tudu.

Social activist Sikandar Ali, working for the cause of migrant workers, has called for immediate action from both the Central and state governments.

According to him, the problem of migrant workers being stranded abroad is not new; many have fallen prey to fraudulent activities in the past.

KING CHARLES STRIPS ANDREW OF ROYAL TITLES

Andrew also ousted from Windsor estate over the Jeffrey Epstein affair

LONDON

KING Charles III is stripping his younger brother Andrew of his royal titles and ousting him from his long-term residence on the Windsor estate, the palace said on Thursday. The move — the first such action since 1919 — is the latest humiliation for the scandal-plagued royal over his links to convicted US sex offender Jeffrey Epstein.

"Prince Andrew will now be known as Andrew Mountbatten Windsor," Buckingham Palace said, adding Charles had begun the formal process to remove all his brother's titles.

Andrew has also been told to move out of his long-time home on Windsor Castle's sprawling grounds, and he will move "to alternative private accommodation" as soon as possible.

The announcement followed a torrent of outrage at renewed accusations of sexual assault made by one of Jeffrey Epstein's main accusers against the 65-year-old, who has denied the charges. "These censures are deemed necessary, notwithstanding the fact that he continues to deny the allegations against him," the palace said.

"Their Majesties wish to make clear that their thoughts and utmost sympathies have been, and will remain with, the victims and survivors of any and all forms of abuse," it added. It comes days after the posthumous publication of Virginia Giuffre's memoir, in which the victim of US sex offender Epstein reiterated in shocking detail allegations that she was trafficked to have sex with Andrew three times, including twice when she was only 17.

It is understood that Andrew did not object to the king's decision, and that the UK government has been consulted.

Giuffre took her own life in April, aged 41, while Epstein died by suicide in 2019 in prison awaiting trial on sex-trafficking charges. Giuffre's family, which had pushed for Andrew's title of prince to be removed, hailed the move Thursday, saying in a statement to the BBC that "today, she declares a victory". "Today, an ordinary American girl from an ordinary American family brought down a British prince with her truth and extraordinary courage," they said.

"Virginia Roberts Giuffre, our sister, a child when she was sexually assaulted by Andrew, never stopped fighting for accountability for what had happened to her and countless other survivors like her."

Andrew has repeatedly denied the allegations. But he had agreed to pay US and Australian citizen Giuffre millions of dollars in 2022 to end her civil sexual assault case against him. Adding to the outcry following Giuffre's bestselling memoir, The Times revealed last week that the prince had only paid a minimal rent for the past two decades on his Royal Lodge home in the Windsor estate, where he lives with ex-wife Sarah Ferguson. AFP

Apple's revenue in India witnesses record growth

Sales driven by strong performance in smaller cities, iPhone 17 launch

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

APPLE achieved an all-time revenue record in India during the September quarter, said Apple CEO Tim Cook on Friday. Cook, while speaking during the company's post-earnings call, described 2025 as an "extraordinary year" for Apple, in which the company posted a record $416 billion in revenue for the fiscal year.

Apple reported $102.5 billion in revenue for the September quarter, up 8% YoY, marking a new September quarter record. "We set a September quarter revenue record in emerging markets and an all-time revenue record in India. These results come at the close of an extraordinary year for Apple in which we achieved an all-time revenue record of $416 billion for the fiscal year," said Cook.

As per IDC data, Apple achieved a record shipment volume of 4.9 million units in Q3, 2025, driven by strong performance in smaller cities and launch of locally-manufactured iPhone 17. The iPhone 17 Series, launched in September 2025, accounted for nearly 20% of Apple's shipments that quarter.

During the quarter, Apple launched its iPhone 17 Series, which includes the iPhone 17, iPhone 17 Air, iPhone 17 Pro, and iPhone 17 Pro Max. However, iPhone revenue totalled $49 billion, up 6% YoY, driven primarily by iPhone 16 family. Apple Senior vice-president and CFO Kevan Parekh noted that iPhone sales grew in the majority of markets the company tracks, setting September quarter records in several emerging markets, including Latin America, the Middle East, and South Asia, as well as an all-time record in India.

Addressing ongoing supply constraints, Cook said several iPhone 17 models remain constrained, though not due to manufacturing capacity. He clarified the issue stemmed from stronger-than-expected demand rather than production limits.

"Yes. If you look at the supply constraints, today, we are constrained on several 17 models. We're not predicting when the supply/demand will balance. We're obviously working very hard to achieve that because we want to get as many of these products out to the customers as possible. But today, I'm not going to predict," said Cook.

A BUMPER QUARTER

- Apple shipped 4.9 million iPhones in Q3, 2025, highest-ever quarterly volume
- Newly-launched iPhone 17 Series contributed nearly 20% of total shipments
- Strong performance in smaller cities is fuelled by aspirational demand, festive offers, and broader retail availability
- LOCALLY-MADE IPHONE 17 BASE MODEL GAINED RAPID TRACTION

IPHONE REVENUE
$49.03 BN GLOBALLY

- Older models like iPhone 16 and 15 saw strong demand under promotional discounts, aiding to overall shipment growth
- APPLE REPORTED $102.47BN IN REVENUE, UP 8% YEAR OVER YEAR GLOBALLY
- Cook also forecast 10-12% revenue growth in the quarter ending in December

FUTURE & OPTIONS

We can't shutter F&O expiries, says Sebi chief

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

SEBI chairman Tuhin Kanta Pandey on Friday ruled out shuttering options and futures weekly expiries, saying as a regulator he can't abruptly shut down the market like that.

The statement from the capital market watchdog helped BSE and Angel One sharply recoup the deep loses booked earlier in the day and close in the green with closing 1% higher.

"This (weekly F&O expiry) is a sensitive subject and has a lot of nuances. There has been a problem in the derivatives market, which has been highlighted by Sebi," said Pandey at an event here on Friday.

"Need to see irrational exuberance is in control for smaller or lesser savvy market participants. How can we shutdown weekly options market just like that? We will do further data crunching on weekly options issue," Pandey added, and noted that while concerns over retail participation in derivatives are valid, an outright ban is not feasible.

Sebi's won findings have found that vast majority of retail investors are heavy losers in the segment of the market.

Narayana acquires UK-based PPG Hospitals for £189 mn

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

BENGALURU-based healthcare provider Narayana Health has announced acquisition of 100% stake in UK-based Practice Plus Group (PPG) Hospitals for £188.78 million, it said in a regulatory filing.

The acquisition represents Narayana Health's move into the UK healthcare market, where PPG operates 12 hospitals and surgical centres, specialising in high-quality orthopaedics, ophthalmology and general surgery. The acquisition extends Narayana Health's global reach, placing the company among the top three healthcare providers in India by revenue. Practice Plus Group of hospitals is the fifth-largest private hospital group in the UK, performing 80,000 surgeries a year. Through this acquisition, Narayana Health gains access to the UK healthcare market, where demand for surgeries, especially in the private sector, is projected to grow significantly in the coming years.

The two parties share the same vision and value systems: healthcare needs to be affordable and accessible to all. Dr Devi Prasad Shetty, founder and chairman of Narayana Health, said, "The acquisition of Practice Plus Group hospitals and surgical centres is an incredibly exciting step for Narayana Health. Like Narayana Health, Practice Plus Group recognised that the majority of patients were struggling to access healthcare, while only a minority could afford costly private healthcare. We have both been working to meet the demands of those in between, and to offer a new choice of more accessible private healthcare. Together, we are a perfect fit, and I am looking forward to welcoming Practice Plus Group to Narayana Health and helping many more patients get the help they need."

Jim Easton, Practice Plus Group CEO, said, "Dr. Shetty and Narayana Health have a reputation for high quality, efficient healthcare with a human touch and I'm excited about what Practice Plus Group's hospitals and surgical centres can achieve with the commitment and expertise of Narayana Health behind us."

MSIL's dominance in smaller car segment to grow as GST cut lifts sales

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

RC Bhargava, Chairman of Maruti Suzuki India (MSIL), expects the company's dominance in the smaller car segment to grow following last month's reduction in goods and services tax (GST) from 28% to 18%. Currently, MSIL holds a 69% market share in the car segment, which falls under the 18% GST bracket. Since the tax revision, sales in this category have been growing at a healthy double-digit pace, outpacing SUV sales, which fall under the 40% tax bracket.

"I see (MSIL share in the small car segment) is going up slowly as the number of small car sales goes up. It is not going to remain at 69%. It is going to become a higher figure," said Bhargava while announcing MSIL's Q2FY26 earnings performance. He said MSIL currently has total bookings of 3.5 lakh units, of which 2.5 lakh are for cars in 18% GST segment. "Bigger cars are also selling, but not as much. For example, in October, after the festive period, Maruti 's retail sales growth remained strong at 20%. Small cars (in the 18% GST category) grew by 30%. Big cars have grown by about 4-5%. This clearly shows many people still want to buy small cars," said Bhargava.

He added, "I am sure this heavy rate of growth which we have seen, this high rate can't be sustained. I expect that in the small car segment (18% segment), a double-digit growth should be possible for some period to come." He said considering GST rate change and its impact on small cars, the company's earlier forecast of production and sale projections for 2030-31 are bound s undergo changes.

He said the perception among some carmakers that Indians no longer aspire to own small cars and that the market has shifted toward larger, more premium vehicles has proven incorrect.

ON THE GAS

- MSIL holds a 69% market share in the car segment which falls under the 18% GST bracket
- Since tax revision, sales in small car category have been growing at double-digit pace, outpacing SUV sales
- MSIL currently has total bookings of 3.5 lakh units, of which 2.5 lakh are for cars in the 18% GST segment
- Alto K10, S-Presso, WagonR, and Celerio sales went up substantially after GST rate cuts
- MSIL Friday reported a 7.95% YoY rise in consolidated net profit for Q2FY26 at ₹3,349 crore

Fiscal deficit widens 21% to ₹5.7L cr in H1

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Centre's fiscal deficit widened 21% year-on-year in the first six months of the current financial year to ₹5.7 lakh crore as the government accelerated capital expenditure amid muted tax revenue growth. The fiscal deficit has now reached 36.5% of the FY26 budget target of ₹15.7 lakh crore.

The central government's capital expenditure rose by 40% in the April-September period of FY26 to ₹5.8 lakh crore compared to ₹4.1 lakh crore in the same period previous year. In September, the capital expenditure showed an increase of 30% to ₹1.4 lakh crore. Higher capital expenditure is considered good as they go towards building infrastructure and assets. The government has, however, managed to keep the revenue expenditure in check with barely 1.5% year-on-year growth in the first six month of the financial year. Revenue expenditure goes towards administration cost, salary and pension payments. A miserly increase in revenue expenditure helped the Central government keep its overall expenditure growth at 9%, which is still higher than the budgeted growth of 5%.

The net tax revenue (net of states share in Union government's tax pool) contracted by 2.5% in the April-September 2025 period even as the gross tax revenue witnessed a 2.8% growth at ₹18.6 lakh crore.

ASIANOMICS

HONG KONG

Q3 GDP EXPANDS BY 3.8%, FASTER THAN FORECAST

Hong Kong's economy expanded in Q3 by a faster-than-expected 3.8% year-on-year, official advance estimates showed on Friday. Hong Kong reported 3.1% economic growth in the second quarter and 3.0% growth in the first quarter of 2025. On a seasonally adjusted quarterly basis, the economy expanded 0.7% in July-September, the data showed. That compared with a (revised) 0.4% in April-June and 1.8% in January-March. Overall investment expenditure rose and total exports of goods grew markedly, the government said. Private consumption expenditure rose by 2.1% in the third quarter, compared with a 1.9% growth in the second quarter and a fall of 1.2% in the first quarter. Goods exports rose 12.2%, compared with an 11.5% jump in the second quarter and a 8.4% surge in the first quarter. Imports of goods increased 11.7%, as compared with a 12.6% increase in the second quarter and a 7.2% surge in the first quarter.

CHINA

FACTORY ACTIVITY SHRANK FOR 7TH MONTH IN OCT

China's factory activity shrank for a seventh month in October, an official survey showed on Friday, keeping alive calls for further stimulus to boost domestic demand, with efforts to ship goods abroad exporting price wars. The official purchasing managers' index (PMI) fell to 49.0 in October from 49.8 in September, a six-month low, the National Bureau of Statistics' survey showed on Friday. It remained below 50-mark separating growth from contraction. The non-manufacturing purchasing managers' index (PMI), which includes services and construction, rose to 50.1 from 50.0 in September. The prolonged slump comes as manufacturers struggle to mount a sustained recovery in the years since the COVID pandemic and a costly trade war with US President Donald Trump forces factory owners to give up on the world's top consumer market.

THAILAND

ECONOMY POISED FOR Q4 BOOST DESPITE SLOWDOWN

The Bank of Thailand (BOT) said the national economy saw a slowdown in Q3 of 2025 but expects a recovery in the final three months of the year, pushing GDP growth up to 2.2%. Speaking at a press briefing on Friday, Chayawadee Chai-anant, BOT Assistant Governor and spokesperson, and Pranee Sutthasri, senior director of the Macroeconomic Department, indicated that a late-quarter boost came from a rebounding industrial sector and the return of short-haul tourists. The central bank is signaling a gradual recovery in the fourth quarter, fuelled by the high tourism season, end-of-year festive spending, and ongoing government stimulus measures. The tourism sector is expected to perform strongly, bolstered by government schemes such as Tiew Thai Kon La Krueng (Thailand Travel Co-payment) and a noticeable return of long-haul international visitors, a trend evidenced by increased seat capacity and advance bookings.

Industry bodies urge govt to rationalise buyback tax, allow share cost deduction

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

INDUSTRY associations have urged the finance ministry to rationalise the taxation of share buybacks and restore parity by treating the proceeds as capital gains rather than deemed dividends. The demand was raised by a few industry bodies during their pre-Budget meeting with Revenue Secretary Arvind Srivastava.

In Budget 2024, the government had changed the tax treatment of buybacks by classifying the amount received as deemed dividend income in the hands of shareholders, without allowing any deduction for the cost of acquisition. Earlier, buybacks were taxed at the company level at an effective rate of 23.296% of the distributed income — calculated as the difference between the buyback price and the issue price of the shares.

In its representation to the Revenue Secretary, PHDCCI said the buyback of shares qualifies as a transfer of a capital asset under Section 2(47) of the Income Tax Act, as it involves the relinquishment of an asset. Therefore, taxing it as a deemed dividend instead of capital gains may go against the settled principles of taxation.

"Also, not allowing deduction towards the cost of shares results in very high taxation in the hands of shareholders," PHDCCI noted.

Assocham, in its submission, pointed out that international practice treats buybacks as dividends only to the extent of profit distribution. "Hence, the new regime's treatment of buybacks as dividend-cum-capital loss should not apply to buybacks made out of share premium or from proceeds of another issue of shares or securities, where no retained earnings are being distributed," it said.

The issue has gained attention after Infosys promoters — including N R Narayana Murthy, Sudha Murthy, and Nandan Nilekani — opted out of the company's ongoing share buyback programme despite a premium of over ₹300 per share to the prevailing market price. Experts believe the move was driven by tax considerations, as the new regime results in steep tax liabilities for individual shareholders participating in buybacks.

ICEA, GSM join hands to boost India's semiconductor integration

ABHIJEET KABAD @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S semiconductor industry has grown by nearly 500% in the past year, while smartphone manufacturing has surged by 100%. The country's electronics output now stands at $150 billion, with exports expected to surpass $50 billion, said India Cellular and Electronics Association (ICEA) Chairman Pankaj Mohindroo on Friday.

Amid this rapid growth, the ICEA and the Global Semiconductor Alliance (GSA) have announced a strategic collaboration aimed at accelerating India's integration into the global semiconductor value-chain. The partnership seeks to leverage India's expanding talent pool and improving infrastructure to attract global fabless companies and innovators to co-create in India.

Highlighting the sector's momentum, Mohindroo noted the success of the Electronic Component Manufacturing Scheme, describing it as "an enormous success, showcasing vibrancy in the industry". He added, "The budgeted amount for the scheme has exceeded two-folds. GSA is an important body in the US and globally. Policy is our forte, and seeing that the aspirations fit into the policy, we move faster. The PM has given a target of $500 billion of output, which is a big leap from the current $150 billion."

GSA CEO Jodi Shelton said, "At GSA, we've been bringing the industry together for 30 years. The whole idea is to provide a neutral and unique platform where people can innovate. We believe that semiconductors span a big ecosystem, which includes traditional fabless companies and partners, and others like Google, Amazon and Tesla, which are active in GSA. We do executive events all over the world and India will be included now." Accordingly, an international summit in New Delhi is planned for 2026.

Speaking on the collaboration, she added, "Through this partnership, we'll build bridges between India's domestic ecosystem and the global semiconductor value-chain. Together, we can help India's role within the semiconductor world. We envision a future where fabless companies can design in India, test and package in India, and eventually scale in India."

"Through the event, we want to ensure that executives around the world understand the opportunities in India, from design to manufacturing. We also want to make sure that Indian companies understand that there is a huge opportunity to be part of this ecosystem," Jodi said.

HUL gets ₹2k cr tax demand; co set to appeal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Hindustan Unilever (HUL), one of India's largest fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) companies, has been served with a ₹1,986.25 crore ($238 mn) tax demand for the financial year (FY) 2020-21.

The order was received by the company on October 30, 2025, from the Assistant Commissioner of Income-Tax, Central Circle 5(2), Mumbai. The assessment order includes transfer pricing adjustments. This involves the tax authorities challenging the valuation of or disallowing payments made to related parties. The tax demand involves disallowances specifically concerning depreciation claimed by the company.

The company said it will appeal against the tax demand.

Q2FY26 RESULTS

BoB profit slips to ₹4,809 cr despite better asset quality

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE country's second-largest public sector lender Bank of India on Friday reported an 8.2% year-on-year drop in net income at ₹4,809 crore, despite improved asset quality and the resultant sharp 47% drop in provisions, along with stable net interest margin in the September quarter.

The city-based lender said slip in net profit is primarily due to a 32% plunge in non-interest or fee income, which fell to ₹3,515 crore from ₹5,166 crore a year ago. This was primarily due to a sharper 36% YoY cut in treasury income, which printed in at ₹1,086 crore, crimping profitability.

The core net interest income saw a modest 2.7% growth at ₹11,954 crore, while interest expenses jumped 4.9% to ₹19,557 crore and as a result, net interest income rose 2.7% to ₹11,954 crore and the key profitability metric net interest margin fell by 17 basis points to 3.27%, the management told reporters on Friday in an earnings call. Non-interest income, on the other hand, tumbled 32% to ₹3,515 crore, boosting total operating income to ₹15,469 crore, though it was down 7.9%.

HPCL's Russian oil buying falls

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-owned Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd (HPCL) significantly reduced its intake of Russian crude during Q2FY26, citing unfavorable refinery economics, Chairman and Managing Director Vikas Kaushal said during a post-results analyst call on Friday.

The refiner has shifted its crude sourcing pattern, relying more on Middle Eastern grades and increasing its intake of West African crude, Kaushal said. "In Q2, out of total crude processing of 6.1 MT, 1 MT was indigenous and 5 MT was imported, of which 5% was Russian crude." HPCL reported a 731% YoY rise in standalone profit after tax (PAT) for the first half of FY26, rising to ₹8,201 crore, supported by robust refining and marketing operations.

INDIA'S RUN FOR THE AGES

Harmanpreet & Co have had a fascinating campaign & they'll be hoping to go all the way

GOMESH S @ Navi Mumbai

India pullled off a memorable victory against Australia on Thursday | AP

IT was the third ball of the 49th over during India's record chase against Australia on Thursday night. By then, the 35,000 fans, millions watching, including the team and support staff in the dugout, knew that India had it in the bag. It was a moment of when rather than if. They needed four runs to win and had five wickets in hand, including that of Jemimah Rodrigues batting on 127 and Amanjot Kaur in the middle.

India captain Harmanpreet Kaur, her deputy Smriti Mandhana, Deepti Sharma, and head coach Amol Muzumdar were all sitting in the dugout, trying to hold back tears, waiting for it all to be over. Amanjot, in a hurry to finish off the chase and let it all out, lofted a floated up delivery from Sophie Molineux down the ground. It almost ran to the ropes, but Georgia Wareham put in a full-length dive to pull it back. Mandhana turned to Harmanpreet, gesturing not just yet; that they have to hold it together until they are across the line. The moment did not take long as Amanjot cut the left-arm spinner for a four on the very next ball. Harmanpreet let out a roar, so did Deepti and Muzumdar before embracing each other in joy, while Mandhana and the rest ran to engulf Rodrigues and Amanjot in the middle. They knew that they had achieved — a historic run chase to eliminate Australia and enter the final of a home ODI World Cup. They had understood the magnitude of it all and the pressure they were under right from the beginning and through the course of the campaign even though they might not have publicly admitted as much.

After all, their road to the final had been anything but perfect. They kicked off with wins against Sri Lanka and Pakistan, but crumbled under pressure against Australia and South Africa. Muzumdar kept reiterating that they start well but have to finish well too. They had issues with letting go of the momentum and the lack of depth in the bowling attack after opting to play only five of them.

Every time, it seemed like they needed a loss to course correct. Whether it was a discussion on strike rate or playing six bowlers or dropping Rodrigues, it all seemed reactionary. They came to Navi Mumbai under immense pressure after three consecutive losses. They brought back Rodrigues and played her at 3 as India played a near-perfect game against New Zealand — with only five bowlers. Ahead of the semifinal, they had lost Pratika Rawal and had drafted in Shafali Verma in her place. They knew if they wanted to have a chance at beating Australia, they needed more. For the first time in this World Cup, India fielded what was possibly the best starting XI — six bowlers and Rodrigues at No 3. However, even on the field, it was not a perfect game. Not to the least in the first 50 overs. Dropped catches and misfields did not help their cause, with Australia going on the offensive. They lost Verma and Madhana early. Promoting Rodrigues to No 3, on both occasions, had been a last-minute call and not a pre-match plan.

They, however, knew the only way to beat Australia was to hang in there. They waited, played a long game. And more importantly, they were confident of chasing anything Australia put on the board. Both Deepti and Amanjot would later explain that they expected Australia to score 370-380. "If they had posted 400, we would have chased it as well," Amanjot told reporters after the match. They also knew it should not be a repeat of England, where Amanjot tried to take it deep and it became too little too late. India did what their coach had been reiterating — they didn't just start well, but stayed till the end and finished off the chase.

Skipper Harmanpreet revealed the dressing room interaction after the England loss and the shift that happened afterwards. She said that a disappointed Muzumdar talked to the players "aggressively" and they all took it in good spirits.

Back to the drawing board for Aus after semifinal defeat

GOMESH S @ Navi Mumbai

AS India completed a world record chase to eliminate Australia in the semifinal of the Women's Cricket World Cup, Australia captain Alyssa Healy, who looked visibly dejected and a pale version of herself, was asked to reflect on what was an electrifying contest that went down to the wire.

One of the first words from Healy during the conversation with the broadcasters was, "We did that to ourselves, probably a little bit. Probably the first time I felt like we had done that." She would reiterate different versions of it — "we were not sharp enough", "we did not hold on to our chances", "we let ourselves down", "disappointing to be standing here"— during that interaction and the press conference after.

It was not her way of taking credit away from India and Jemimah Rodrigues — she did a fair bit of it on Thursday night — but rather than that Healy was owning up to the mistakes she and her team had made in the semifinal. It is the same kind of attitude that brought them all the success over the last eight years and made them the juggernaut they are.

The defeat on Thursday was Australia's seventh in the format in the last eight years. They had been on at least two record-breaking winning streaks during this period. They have dominated world cricket, first under Meg Lanning, and then under Healy, won an ODI World Cup unbeaten in 2022 and remained that way in 2025 until India came out and played the game of the tournament to beat them. Whilst talking about Australia and semifinal defeats, it is impossible not to go back to another such loss, against India, in Derby during the 2017 World Cup. The then defending champions were taken apart by an outrageous 171 not out from Harmanpreet Kaur. It gave them a reality check when the entire group gathered at the National Cricket Centre in Brisbane a few months on. Some honest conversations were had. They decided whatever they were doing was not up to the standards they had set for themselves and decided to change up. "I guess, it just drove us to rethink our standards and the way we wanted to approach our cricket. I think for our team, it just, I guess, made us rethink what we were doing and how we could do it better. And I think we've been really successful since that point. But like I said, we keep reassessing it at different moments in time. Teams are continually not catching us, matching us at every opportunity they can. So, it's more about a discussion for us, how we keep raising the bar and be better ourselves," Healy had reflected in Visakhapatnam a few weeks ago.

Now, Australia are at a similar point — not in their approach to cricket, but with a team in transition. There is no Lanning, or Rachael Haynes. Healy has been at the front and centre of the transition as leader, but it has not been easy with her injuries. She has already said that this was her last World Cup. "I won't be there (for 2029 WC), Mel," Healy said with a smile to Mel Jones during the post-match presentation. One could expect it to be the case for Ellyse Perry as well — one of the greatest players ever to have played this sport.

After ranking leap, Tjen aims for more

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

ONE year can be defining in sportspersons' career. Sometimes it takes them to the top of their game or plunge them to the depths of despair. For Indonesian tennis player Janice Tjen too, that one year has been quite defining in her career. From nowhere in the ranking, she has broken into the top 100 and now rest gleefully in the top 80.

The game against junior Wimbledon Champion Mia Pohankova in the quarterfinal of the WTA Chennai Open here showed how Tjen has improved. There were deft touches and powerful shots. Same time around last year, Tjen was ranked 580 and now she is ranked World No 82 after reaching career-best 80. Like most sportspersons, her journey too far has not been easy. Growing in a country that adores badminton, Tjen found tennis through a family trip with her compatriot Priska Nugroho. "Our siblings were good friends, and that way, our parents connected and took us to a tennis club tournament. There, both (she and Priska) took to tennis," she had told reporters here.

She took one step at a time. The 23-year-old dominated the ITF circuit, winning seven singles titles in 2024, before winning six more between May and July this year. In the WTA circuit, she ended as the runner-up of the Sao Paulo Open in September, before winning the WTA 125 in Jihan, China just before this tournament.

Apart from bagging titles, she also became the first Indonesian since Angelique Widjaja (2004) to be in the main draw of a Grand Slam event (US Open). Taking up tennis professionally would be a financial burden for their parents, who run a family business. "Expenses on travel and hiring a coach were not easy for them. Luckily, there was a college route (the US) that helped me continue to develop my game and had put me in a better position to turn pro," she said.

Stage set for opening moves at chess World Cup

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Arpora (North Goa)

ON Friday afternoon, most of Goa was blanketed by low-hanging clouds. A system has persisted on the Arabian Sea and the net effect has seen some rains — ranging from light to heavy — across the western coast. It was dark and gloomy in Panjim, the state capital, when the Opening Ceremony for the chess World Cup started inside the imposing Dr Shyama Prasad Mukherjee Indoor Stadium.

Even if the weather has been dark and gloomy, the hosts' prospects of owning another global chess event is looking grand. For one, Magnus Carlsen, the world No. 1 and the defending World Cup champion, is not here. Whenever he isn't playing, the chances for the rest burn that much brighter. With some of the others also not here, like Fabiano Caruana and Hikaru Nakamura, the Indian contingent will surely have designs on taking home the title. Even if none of the world's top three are here, it doesn't mean that the tournament isn't important. If anything, it's the most prestigious Classical event in 2025. Carlsen has given up on the format while Caruana has already qualified for the next edition of the Candidates. Nakamura is trying to get there through other means.

Gukesh top seed

That is why this tournament matters an awful lot; the two finalists as well as the one who finishes in third qualifies for the 2026 edition of the Candidates, the standalone eight-player field from where the winner qualifies to face D Gukesh in next year's World Championship.

Gukesh is of course the top-seed but he isn't necessarily the favourite to win this event. He's had an up and down year and his route to Goa has predominantly been spent playing in a lot of exhibition events in Europe and the US. Most recently, he spent some time facing Carlsen, Caruana and Nakamura — three of the strongest Classical players of all time — in a tournament labelled 'Clutch Chess: Champions Showdown' in the US. "There are no better training partners than these three (Carlsen, Nakamura and Caruana)," he had said when asked about his prep for the World Cup. "So the good thing is these three won't be there in the World Cup. So, I had a better training than what I'll be facing. So, I hope it helps," he added. But this tournament is important for the 19-year-old because there has been a lack of respect towards the world champion. This is his opportunity to shush the voices.

Big tournament for Erigaisi

It's also an important event for Arjun Erigaisi, the No. 2 seed. The No. 3 seed, R Praggnanandhaa, has a more viable path to the Candidates because he's the clear FIDE circuit leader for the year. But the 22-year-old needs a top three performance from this event to get there. If he doesn't, he run the risk of losing out from the marquee for a second consecutive cycle. "Preparations are going well and the goal is to qualify for candidates," he said. "It doesn't really matter so much to me which seed I'm, I'll just take one match at a time and focus on that." On current form, Erigaisi isn't one among the favourites for the crown. One Indian player who has enjoyed a better year than some of his peers is Praggnandhaa, especially in the first half of the year when he marked the beginning of the year by winning Tata Steel. In 2023, Pragg used the World Cup to advance to the Candidates (he lost to Carlsen in the final). A similar result will see him feature in the Candidates in 2026.

Cup named after Anand

That theme was reflected when FIDE, the world governing body for chess, decided to name the trophy the 'Viswanathan Anand Cup' going forward. FIDE made this announcement in a glittering Ceremony also attended by Goa CM, Pramod Sawant and Union sports minister, Mansukh Mandaviya and other dignitaries (PM Narendra Modi declared the event open via a letter read out by AICF head, Nitin Narang).

Anika & Aryaveer among toppers in squash c'ships

ENS @ Chennai

JUNIOR Worlds medallists Anika Dubey (Girls U19) and Aryaveer Dewan (Boys U17) won their respective finals in the sub junior and junior national squash championships at the Indian Squash Academy on Friday. Anika, a two-time U15 national champion, skipped the U17 category to take part in the U19 category. Her decision paid off as she beat state-mate Akanksha Gupta in the final in straight sets. Aryaveer beat Tamil Nadu's Shiven Agarwal.

Meanwhile, Arihant KS of TN emerged victorious in the U19 category, battling hard to beat Yusha Nafees of Uttar Pradesh 3-1.

Results: Girls: (U13): Divyanshi Jain bt Shanaya Parasrampuria, 3-1. (U15): Aadya Budhia bt Goushika M 3-1, (U17): Aradhya Porwal bt Sehar Nayar 3-1 (U19): Anika Dubey bt Akanksha Gupta 3-0; Boys: (U13): Abhyuday Arora bt Amarya Bajaj 3-1,(U15): Harshal Rana bt Aryaman Singh 3-1, (U17): Aryaveer Dewan bt Shiven Agarwal 3-0, (U19): Arihant KS bt Yusha Nafees 3-1.

Dabang Delhi crowned PKL 12 champions

NEW DELHI: Dabang Delhi were on Friday crowned champions of the Pro Kabaddi League Season 12 after their thrilling 31-28 victory over Puneri Paltan here. This was their second PKL title, having previously been crowned champions in Season 8, when current head coach Joginder Narwal was their captain. In doing so, Dabang Delhi became the first home team since U Mumba in Season 2 to lift the trophy.

Pant disappoints as SA A take handy lead

BENGALURU: Two well-timed fours and a nothing shot summarised Rishabh Pant's 29-minute 17, which aptly reflected in India A's 234 all out against South Africa A on Day 2 of the four-day match here. After bowling out SA 'A' for 309 in the first session, India succumbed to their own waywardness and the relentlessness of off-spinner Prenelan Subrayen (5/61), to concede an innings lead of 75.

Pro Wrestling League to be relaunched

CHENNAI: The Wrestling Federation of India is relaunching the Pro Wrestling League with the fifth edition expected to be held in January next year. The league started in 2015 but was discontinued in 2019 after the four editions due to Covid-19 pandemic and other operational challenges.

Australia's Josh Hazlewood (C) picked up three wickets on Friday | AP

Hazlewood delivers as Australia beat India

AGENCIES @ Melbourne

JOSH Hazlewood clinically dismantled a famed Indian top-order with a probing spell to kill the contest as Australia cantered to a four-wicket victory in the second T20 International here.

In front of a 82,438 strong crowd, India suffered one of its most embarrassing defeats with as many as nine batters failing to reach double digits in a total of 125 in 18.4 overs. Only Abhishek Sharma, in the form of his life, stood tall amid ruins with a combative 37-ball-68. With Harshit Rana (35 off 33 balls) he added 56 to take the total past 100-run mark after pacer Hazlewood (3/13) left them reeling at 49 for 5. Hazlewood bowled an incredible 15 dot balls in his four-over spell to break the backbone of Indian batting and killed the contest within 20 minutes of start.

BRIEF SCORES: India 125 in 18.4 ovs (Abhishek 68, Rana 35; Hazlewood 3/13, Ellis 2/21) lost to Australia 126/6 in 13.2 ovs (Marsh 46, Head 28; Bumrah 2/26, Chakravarthy 2/23).

In reply, skipper Mitchell Marsh blasted his way to 46 off 26 balls with hosts completing the chase in 13.2 only overs losing three wickets in the process. Australia lost six wickets primarily due to their batters attempting audacious shots.

RANJI ROUND-UP

Struggling Kerala face strong Karnataka challenge

AGENCIES @ Mangalapuram

KERALA and Karnataka have yet not registered a single win in the Ranji Trophy but the former are placed fourth in the Group B by virtue of their first innings lead against Goa. On the contrary, Kerala have conceded lead in both of their matches to be at seventh. Kerala need to regroup and go for an outright victory against Karnataka in their match, starting on Saturday, to stay in the race.

Delhi seek full points

NEW DELHI: After earning first innings lead in the past two matches, Delhi are fourth with six points in Group D. They have a golden opportunity to register their first win when they host Pondicherry.

Odisha take on Andhra

CUTTACK: Both Andhra and Odisha are precariously placed sixth and seventh respectively on the points table in Group A at the moment. Odisha host Andhra in the third round match. Both teams need to immediately arrest the slide if they wish to bring back their respective campaigns on track before it's too late.

Delhi batter Ayush Doseja is the third leading scorer of the tournament

SELECT MATCHES

Group A: At Cuttack: Odisha vs Andhra; At Coimbatore: Tamil Nadu vs Vidarbha. Group B: At Mangalapuram: Kerala vs Karnataka. Group D: At New Delhi: Delhi vs Pondicherry; At Nadaun: Himachal Pradesh vs Hyderabad.

TN meet Vidarbha

COIMBATORE: Jharkhand defeated them at home in the first match while Nagaland carved out a draw against them in the next. Tamil Nadu now play Group A table-toppers and defending champions Vidarbha in Coimbatore. Their task only get difficult in absence of their leading pacer Gurjapneet Singh, who claimed a hat-trick in the previous contest.

Hyderabad, HP eye first win

NADAUN: Rain deprived Hyderabad of full points against Pondicherry a few days ago but they were below par against Delhi in their first match. Himachal Pradesh secured lead against Pondicherry but conceded three points to Delhi. They now take on each other eyeing their first win.

ON KANNADA RAJYOTSAVA, KARNATAKA'S EMINENT CULTURAL FIGURES SHARE A GLIMPSE OF THE ART THAT SHAPED THEM

A KANNADA KALEIDOSCOPE

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

WITH writers Banu Mushtaq and Deepa Bhasthi winning the International Booker Prize earlier this year, composer and 2025 Padma Shri awardee Ricky Kej and singer Varijashree Venugopal receiving Grammy nominations and Rishab Shetty's Kantara: A Legend Chapter 1 becoming a nationwide hit, this year has so far been a big one for Karnataka. As the state observes Kannada Rajyotsava today, CE explores the works of Kannada artistes that shaped eminent personalities across various fields.

Deepa Bhasthi,
International Booker Prize-winning translator

I GREW up on stories that my grandmother, Hemavathi, told me. I was introduced to literature long before I could read myself. I came to reading for pleasure in Kannada quite late and the single most influential work for me has been Kuvempu's Malegalalli Madumagalu (1967), in the original. The world-building in the novel, how radical it was when it came out and still is, the exquisite language...I could go on fawning over it. In fact, if I ever need a reminder of the beauty of Kannada, I only have to read a few lines of the book and I fall back in love with my language all over again.

Ricky Kej,
Padma Shri and three-time Grammy-winning musician

COMPOSER B Ajaneesh Loknath's Aleya Kare for Gandhada Gudi (2022) has been on my Spotify playlist for at least the last three years. It's a piece that's ambient with no percussion in it. It's got lush strings and lots of electronica and the vocal performances in both versions are beautiful. I love listening to it while I'm taking off or landing on a plane. It transports you to a different world. Because I've worked with Ajaneesh before, it feels like it's one of those pieces he has created in just a few hours and done it very instinctively, because it really touches the heart.

POWERGRID Organises Walkathon to Promote Vigilance Awareness

Power Grid Corporation of India Limited (POWERGRID), a Maharatna company under the Ministry of Power, Government of India, organised a walkathon in Bengaluru as part of Vigilance Awareness Week (VAW) 2025, observed from October 27 to November 2 with the theme "Vigilance: Our Shared Responsibility."

The event aimed to raise awareness about the importance of integrity and the collective fight against corruption. The walkathon, held near POWERGRID's regional headquarters, was flagged off by Mukund Sharad Hejib, CGM (In-charge), Southern Region-II, who also administered the Integrity Pledge to employees.

Hejib emphasised that every citizen's active participation is crucial for building a self-reliant and developed India. Following the walkathon, street plays (nukkad nataks) were performed at RTO, Singanayakanahalli, and Majestic Bus Depot to engage the public and highlight the message of transparency and ethical conduct.

RWF Observes Vigilance Awareness Week 2025

Rail Wheel Factory (RWF), Yelahanka, is observing Vigilance Awareness Week from October 27 to November 2, 2025, as per directives of the Central Vigilance Commission and Railway Board. The event began with the Integrity Pledge led by Ashish Varma, Chief Vigilance Officer. Various activities, including an online quiz and seminar on anti-corruption laws, are being held to promote transparency and integrity in public service.

BEML, DPA, DMRC, and Umeandus Join Hands to Build India's Smartest Freight System

In a major push toward modernising India's port logistics, BEML Limited, Deendayal Port Authority (DPA), Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC), and Umeandus Technologies India Pvt. Ltd. have signed an MoU to develop the Enhanced Freight Transport System (e-FTS). The agreement, exchanged during India Maritime Week, aims to create an advanced, rail-based, automated cargo transport network. BEML will design driverless electric pods for the system, which integrates AI, IoT, ML, and blockchain for efficient freight handling. The initiative highlights India's commitment to digital, sustainable, and intelligent logistics infrastructure.

BEML and DCIL Sign ₹350-Crore MoUs to Strengthen India's Maritime Sector

BEML Limited and Dredging Corporation of India Limited (DCIL) have signed three Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) worth around Rs. 350 crore during India Maritime Week 2025, marking a major step toward enhancing India's maritime and dredging ecosystem.

The agreements cover the supply of indigenous dredger spares, design and construction of five inland cutter suction dredgers, and customised dredging solutions for inland waterways and reservoirs.

BEML Chairman Shantanu Roy said the collaboration will advance India's self-reliance in maritime infrastructure, aligning with the government's Maritime Amrit Kaal Vision 2047.

IMPORTANCE OF WARM UP

A warm-up prepares the body and mind for exercise by gradually increasing heart rate and blood flow, which helps deliver more oxygen and nutrients to the working muscles.

KEY BENEFITS OF INCORPORATING WARM UP BEFORE YOUR WORKOUT:

- Loosens the joints and improves mobility for smoother, more efficient movement.
- Activates key muscle groups and the core to enhance coordination and stability.
- Prepares the body and mind to transition safely into higher-intensity activity.
- Reduces the risk of muscle strains, joint injuries, and other exercise-related issues.Herbal teas or diluted fruit juices also help, provided they are low in added sugar.

PHASES OF A WARM UP:

1. General Warm-Up: Involves light aerobic activity (jogging, jumping jacks) to increase heart rate and body temperature

2. Mobility: Focuses on dynamic movements for joints (e.g cat camel, ankle rotations) to improve range of motion of the joint.

3. Core Activation: Engages key muscles (Glutes bridges,Planks) to prime the body for the workout ahead.

Perform 2 rounds of the following exercises:

FULL BODY WARM-UP ROUTINE

1. Seal Jacks – 30 seconds

Jumping jack variation with arms clapping in front of the chest to open up the shoulders and activate the upper body.

2. Alternating World's Greatest Stretch – 30 seconds

Dynamic stretch targeting the hips, hamstrings, thoracic spine, and shoulders. Alternate sides with each rep.

3. Prone Lying IYTs – 30 seconds

Lie face down and lift your arms into "I", "Y", and "T" shapes to activate the upper back and shoulder stabilisers.

4. Glute Bridges – 30 seconds

Engage the glutes and hamstrings while activating the core to strengthen the posterior chain.

5. High Plank Shoulder Taps – 30 seconds

From a high plank position, tap one shoulder at a time while keeping your hips stable to improve core strength and shoulder stability.

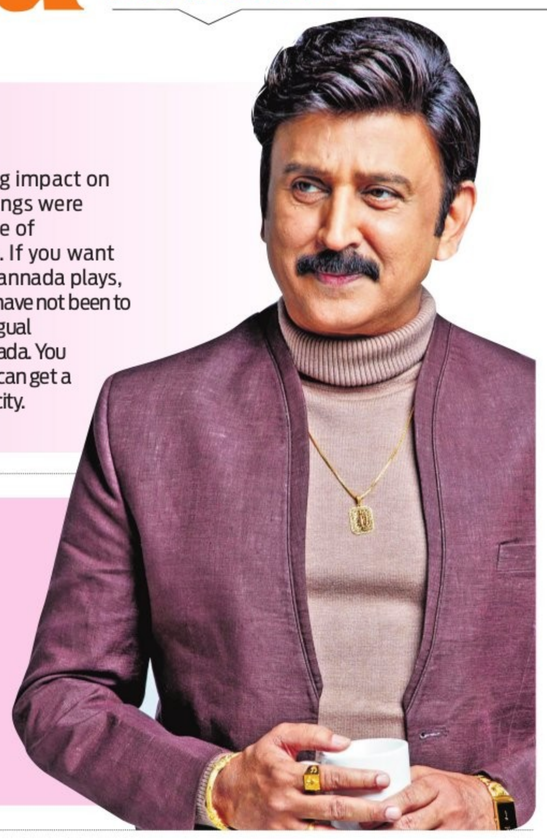
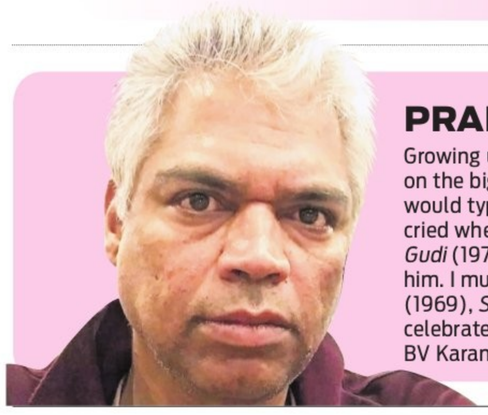
MD PALLAVI, SINGER

Kannada theatre songs have had a lasting impact on me. Being from a theatre family, these songs were always being during gatherings. The sense of community is strong when you sing them. If you want to listen to live Kannada music or watch Kannada plays, you can start by choosing a venue that you have not been to before. Bengaluru has places that have multilingual programmes and ones that focus only on Kannada. You can choose to alternate the two. That way, you can get a hang of the different worlds that coexist in the city.



RAMESH ARAVIND, ACTOR

The very first Kannada film I remember watching in a theatre is Bhootayyana Maga Ayyu (1974), featuring actors Lokesh and Vishnuvardhan. I was floored by the whole thing – the values it highlighted, like how greed doesn't help at all, and the climax where they recreated a flood scene without VFX. In those days, to watch that kind of filmmaking was incredible. Among recent films, Thithi (2015) is worth revisiting. We are conditioned as viewers to expect a way of narration and storytelling in films, but Thithi broke all of that. They did something phenomenal using non-actors.



PRAKASH BELAWADI, ACTOR-DIRECTOR

Growing up in the '60s and '70s, with no television, meant we watched only two or three films a year, on the big screen – the Laurel & Hardy, Pink Panther cartoons kind. The rare full feature in Kannada would typically be a Dr Rajkumar or Dwarakish film. I've remained a fan ever since. I remember how I cried when I watched Sri Krishnadevaraya (1970). I was 8 or 9 years old. Later, of course, Gandhada Gudi (1973), Mayura (1976), and Naagarahaavu (1972) with Vishnuvardhan. I would try to walk like him. I must also mention the many other Puttanna Kanagal films – Belli Moda (1967), Gejje Pooje (1969), Sharapanjara (1971). The late '60s and '70s saw a slew of art films, mostly based on celebrated novels – Pattabhi Rama Reddy's Samskara (1970), Girish Karnad's Vamsha Vriksha (1971), BV Karanth's Chomana Dudi (1975) and GV Iyer's Hamsageethe (1975); I would recommend these too.

KRISHNA SMASHES A SIX IN A GAME OF GREED AND DREAMS

A SHARADHAA

BRAT
Director: Shashank
Cast: Darling Krishna, Manisha Kandkur, Achyuth Kumar, Ramesh Indira, Dragon Manju, Manasi Sudheer, Gaurav Shetty, and Srivatsa Shyam

IN Brat, the pitch is never level, the wickets are unpredictable, and every over carries a hidden cost. Director Shashank pulls audiences behind the scoreboard into a world where ambition collides with temptation, and cricket betting turns dreams into high-stakes gambles. Every shot matters, and every misstep has consequences that find their ripples reach far beyond the crease.

Krishna, as Kristy, is a boy branded a brat by his teacher yet driven by dreams of cricketing glory. He wants to hit a Tendulkar-style shot, the kind that defines a lifetime; however, life bowls relentless bouncers at him. His father, Constable Mahadevaiah (Achyuth Kumar), preaches discipline and hard work. "Our earnings and respect should smell of our sweat," he says. Kristy, drawn to shortcuts and the lure of quick money, struggles to align these lessons with his desires.

Shashank's film explores the underbelly of a sport India worships. It is about greed, temptation, and the dangerous chase behind the crack of bat meeting ball. The story follows Kristy from a cricket-obsessed schoolboy to a young man immersed in illegal betting. Early failures push him toward underground matches and shady deals. A pivotal turn comes when he joins a cricket betting syndicate, seduced by prestige and fast money. Casual wagers among friends escalate into high-stakes gambling, testing morals, relationships, and ambition. His life gets entangled with the lives of police officer Ravi Kumar (Ramesh Indira) and gangster Dollar Mani (Dragan Manju). Amid this chaos, he meets Manisha (Manisha Kandkur). Love blooms, and she, too, becomes caught in his spiralling world.

At home, father-son tensions deepen. Mahadevaiah's warnings clash with Kristy's determination to win at any cost, while his mother quietly anchors the moral balance. Shashank uses these familial moments to contrast the corrupt world outside with warmth and ethics at home, making Kristy's descent even more compelling.

Shashank balances father-son sentiment with the thrills of cricket betting, delivering twists that feel both inevitable and shocking. Each wager spirals into dangerous territory, and every frame resonates with the tension of a last-over chase.

Krishna plays Kristy with restless energy, and his performance fuses rebellion with emotion. Far from his lover-boy image, Krishna weaponises the role that offers him something new to play with. He commands each frame like a seasoned cricketer; his swagger, dialogue delivery, and calculated charm reflect strategy, while Shashank ensures every scene propels the story and grips the audience.

Cinematographer Abhilash Kalathi elevates the film with his framing, capturing close-ups that reveal subtle emotions and wide shots that contextualise high-stakes moments, making every glance and gesture feel vital.

Arjun Janya's music and background score act as invisible commentators, amplifying emotional beats. Songs like Naane Neenante and Gangi Gangi linger, while the score punctuates the stakes.

The film draws a stark contrast between integrity and the seductive ease of shortcuts. One memorable sequence finds Kristy, working as a food delivery boy, staring at a dog lounging in a Benz—a silent observation of what luxury can bring. Kristy's recurring line about money encapsulates his conflicted morality: it speaks volumes, commands respect, and promises happiness.

Brat is as much about cricket as it is about class, choices, and a youth's moral dilemma. Achyuth Kumar embodies integrity and duty, Manisha impresses with a calm and grounded debut, and Ramesh Indira adds menace as a corrupt police officer. Dragon Manju looms as a formidable don, and Mansi Sudhir brings authenticity to the milieu, making each interaction feel like part of a high-pressure match. Even Kristy's friends play pivotal roles in maintaining suspense and urgency.

Structurally, Brat mirrors a cricket match. A gripping first half sets the stage, followed by a tension-filled second half, culminating in a climax that lands like a perfectly timed six. Predictable moments exist, but bouncers, at the least expected times, keep viewers on edge.

Ultimately, Brat is about ambition, ethics, and the fading value of hard work. It holds up a mirror to a generation chasing shortcuts while honouring those who still believe in honest toil. Shashank and Krishna have crafted a match worth watching, where every delivery matters and every choice leaves a mark. In the final analysis, it is a six struck with force and precision, a six that stays with you long after the scoreboard goes dark, echoing the cost of ambition and the weight of dreams.

Komal Kumar anchors Kona's uneasy horror

A SHARADHAA

KONA
Director: Hari Krishna S
Cast: Komal Kumar, Tanisha Kuppanda, Rithvi Jagadish, Raghu Raamanakoppa, Jagappa, Ranjith, Namratha Gowda, Shishir Shastry, MK Mutt, and Vijay Chendoor

A BUFFALO, a robot fortune teller, and a village full of secrets. Kona turns superstition into entertainment, mixing chills, humour, and chaos into a folk-horror carnival that keeps you engaged, even when it falters.

It starts with Jaggesh's gravelly narration, leading us to a dusty, forgotten kingdom where rivers mark borders and whispers of death fill the air. Centuries ago, villagers near the border began dying under strange circumstances. To solve this, they created a life-sized doll, part deity and part demon, to watch over the village, along with a buffalo sacrifice meant to appease unseen forces. This ritual feels fitting for a place that hasn't updated its calendar in two centuries.

In the present, Narayana (Komal Kumar), a drifter burdened by grief, travels with Jogi, a robot fortune teller that gives superstition a mechanical twist. Still mourning his late wife Lakshmi (Tanisha Kuppanda), Narayana's world blurs the line between the mystical and the ordinary. They encounter a travelling drama troupe lead by Master (Raghu Ramankoppa), who are on the way to Koluru, a village where ancient fears collide with the modern world. Koluru is brimming with life, featuring stage plays, folk performances, and festival chaos. A cow dies under mysterious circumstances, a buffalo becomes an unlikely hero, and even animals seem aware of the villagers' ignored secret. The rehearsals for the Rama and Sita play cleverly illustrate how devotion and performance merge into a single ritual cycle. Alongside the supernatural and social themes, Shruthi (Namratha Gowda), the village head's daughter, and Adarsh (Shishir Shastry) add a tender love story to the chaos. Jagappa, Raghu Ramankoppa, and the comic ensemble provide light-hearted humour. These characters navigate between skepticism and acceptance, painting a vivid picture of faith and folly.

Directed by Harikrishna S, the film focuses on the belief in animal sacrifice against the backdrop of a village fair. When the police step in to interrupt the annual Kona ritual, chaos unfolds. Harikrishna skillfully navigates the themes of blind faith and ritual sacrifice with a light touch. The story critiques superstition, using humour to make its point rather than resorting to preachiness. The tone often shifts, moving between ghostly tension and satire, sometimes disrupting its flow. Yet, Kona retains its heart, which lies in the absurdity of belief and the fear that fuels it.

The first half balances folklore with lightness, especially with moments like the robot predicting fates or villagers debating morality. The second half, however, loses some focus. Flashbacks drag on, subplots meander, and the film briefly overlooks the tension it had built. The climax, while thematically fitting, feels hurried.

Visually, Kona is immersive. The cinematography showcases dusty roads, dense forests, and festive chaos with detail and depth. The visual effects are minimal but maintain a subtle sense of horror. Shashank Seshagiri's background score, particularly the Kona theme, keeps the tension high without overshadowing the narrative.

Komal Kumar delivers one of his most restrained performances, steering clear of slapstick to portray Narayana with weary grace, joined by a strong cast. Tanisha Kuppanda, who also doubles up as the producer, provides a grounded, serious portrayal, anchoring the emotional core. Raghu Ramankoppa, Namratha Gowda, Shishir, and Rithvi Jagadish offer solid support, enriching the world the film creates.

Kona shifts in tone and resolves its plot too neatly, but it boldly combines folklore with festival frenzy, superstition with satire, and fear with humour. It is visually rich, gently haunting, and often delightful. Kona is an effective horror-folk dramedy that questions blind faith while celebrating the spectacle of belief.

Claire Danes, Ewan McGregor join The Spot

CE FEATURES

THE upcoming Hulu drama series, The Spot, is all set to be headlined by Emmy-winning actors Claire Danes and Ewan McGregor. The series comes from creator/executive producer Ed Solomon and A24.

The series will see a successful surgeon's (Claire Danes) seemingly perfect life unravelling when her schoolteacher husband (Ewan McGregor) suspects she's involved in a hit-and-run accident that left a child dead. As they dig for truth, dark secrets surface, threatening their relationship and forcing them to confront the possibility of hidden guilt and betrayal. Solomon is the creator, writer, and showrunner of the series.

Meanwhile, Claire Danes is also teaming up with Homeland co-creator Howard Gordon for the Netflix series The Beast In Me, co-starring Matthew Rhys. Danes recently earned an Emmy nod for Fleishman Is in Trouble. On the other hand, Ewan McGregor, who won the Emmy for Halston, was last seen in the Showtime limited series A Gentleman In Moscow. He's set to appear in the sci-fi film Flowervale Street with Anne Hathaway.

Reshmaa takes centrestage in Love You Muddu

The writer and director is now stepping into the spotlight as the female lead in Kumaar's upcoming film, Love You Muddu

CE FEATURES

Reshmaa

BALANCING between scripts, sets, and screens, filmmaker and actor Reshmaa is proving that creativity cannot be boxed into compartments. While she is directing her debut film Kattaara, starring RK Chandan and Cockroach Suddhi, Reshmaa continues to explore other aspects of cinema. Having already appeared in a pivotal role in First Day First Show, she now takes centre stage as the heroine in Love You Muddu, opposite Siddu, in a film produced by Kishan TN and helmed by Chemistry of Kariappa director Kumaar.

Ahead of the film's release on November 7, Reshmaa talks about her dual creative paths with conviction. "I don't feel torn between them. When I'm acting, I'm alive in the moment. When I'm directing, I'm alive in the vision. I want to do both, and I will," she says.

Her journey began as part of several writing teams, where she developed a strong instinct for storytelling. Yet, acting, she admits, gave her a different kind of rush. "I love the energy that comes with being in front of the camera. There's an immediate connection, a pulse that keeps me grounded and excited."

In Love You Muddu, she plays a character inspired by a real-life Marathi YouTube couple. "The director shared several of their videos with me," she recalls. "I studied them carefully — their chemistry, their small gestures, the way they looked at each other. That helped me bring authenticity to my character."

A still from the film

Reshmaa credits her director for fostering a space where creativity flows. "Kumaar sir never made me feel like I was being directed. It was always collaborative and warm," she says. About her co-star, she adds, "Siddu has amazing instincts. He's spontaneous and keeps every scene fresh."

With Kattaara on the way and Love You Muddu marking her as a leading lady, Reshmaa remains both curious and hopeful about how audiences will receive her. "Being behind and in front of the camera, I am in love with cinema in all its forms," she concludes.

Taron Egerton to star alongside Channing Tatum and Zazie Beetz in Kockroach

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Taron Egerton is the latest to join the cast of Kockroach, fronted by Channing Tatum and Zazie Beetz. The Kingsman actor replaces Oscar Isaac in the film, who has exited the project due to scheduling conflicts.

An adaptation of the novel by William Lashner, who wrote it under his pen name Tyler Knox, Kockroach revolves around a mysterious stranger who takes on New York's criminal elite, transforming himself into a larger-than-life crime boss in the city.

A crime drama, Kockroach is directed by Matt Ross (Captain Fantastic) with a screenplay from Jonathan Ames, known for Bored to Death and You Were Never Really Here. Andrew Lazar, known for producing films like American Sniper, is backing the project under his Mad Chance production banner. The film is currently in pre-production with filming scheduled to start in February in Australia. On the technical team, Kockroach has production design by Colin Gibson, cinematography by Adam Arkapaw, and VFX Supervision by Jonathan Dearing.

Apart from the Kingsman films, Egerton is known for Rocketman, Black Bird, and Carry-On. He was last seen in the Apple TV series Smoke and crime drama She Rides Shotgun.

666 Operation Dream... recreates the 70s in every frame

CE FEATURES

Dhananjaya and Advaitha Gurumurthy

A still from the film

HEMANTH M Rao's upcoming film, starring Dhananjaya with Dr Shiva Rajkumar in a special appearance, uses Vintage LOMO anamorphic and spherical lenses to recreate the authentic 1970s cinematic feel

Director Hemanth M Rao's upcoming thriller, 666 Operation Dream Theatre, is set to transport audiences back to the golden era of Kannada cinema. The film is not only revisiting the style and costumes of the 1970s but is also being shot using the same Vintage LOMO lenses that captured some of Dr Rajkumar's most iconic films.

The production team undertook an extensive search for the lenses, traveling to Chennai, Mumbai, and conducting multiple checks in Bengaluru before finalizing the perfect set. These lenses, which were prominently used in films such as Operation Diamond Racket and Jedarabale, are known for their organic flares, painterly fall-offs, and subtle imperfections that add a unique warmth to the visuals.

Speaking about the process, cinematographer Advaitha Gurumurthy says, "From the very beginning, we were clear about the look we wanted for the film. Every shot, every light, and every set had to reflect the spirit of Dr. Rajkumar's films. We wanted the visual texture to unfold naturally in-camera rather than relying entirely on post-production."

After testing sixteen different lens sets, the team selected Vintage LOMO anamorphic and spherical lenses to achieve the authentic 1970s cinematic feel. These lenses are integral to creating the visual aesthetic that defines 666 Operation Dream Theatre. The film stars Dhananjaya, with a special appearance by Dr Shiva Rajkumar. The team includes Charan Raj as music director and Vishwas Kashyap as production designer, with Hemanth M Rao overseeing direction. Produced by Dr Vaishak J Gowda under the banner Vaishak J Films, the movie will have a simultaneous release in Kannada and Telugu.
